Burke, 2009-10-01. The Ignatian tradition sprang up in the sixteenth century, the fruit of graces bestowed on a Basque nobleman, Ignatius of Loyola. Guided by a passion to find God in all things, Ignatius and his first companions founded the Society of Jesus and inspired many other religious orders and lay movements. Their influence spread across the globe even as they embraced various aspects of the cultures, languages, and institutions they encountered. This introduction is a mere sampling of the men and women influenced by Ignatius; it draws on the stories and writings of nineteen exemplary individuals as well as the corporate voice of the Jesuit order. Here we meet missionaries, scholars, artists, advocates, and martyrs; Contemplatives in action; they follow Christ by serving others. They embody the freedom born of a passionate knowledge of God's unending unconditional love. Precisely in this, they show us how to live well today.

Eileen Burke Sullivan, STD, 1949-2024, was professor emerita and former vice provost, vice president of university mission and ministry at Creighton University. She lectured and published widely on liturgical, spiritual, and ecclesial topics and is co-author of The Ignatian Tradition and The Church in the Modern World, published by Liturgical Press. Kevin F. Burke, SJ, is a theologian, poet, and younger brother of Dr. Burke Sullivan. He currently serves as the acting president and academic dean of the Jesuit School of Theology at Berkeley. He recently edited Pedro Arrupe: Essential Writings and co-edited with Robert Lassalle Klein, Love that Produces Hope, a collection of essays on the thought of the Jesuit theologian and martyr Ignacio Ellacurá.

Constructing Mission History
Stanley H. Skreslet, 2023-01-17. Three master narratives currently dominate the analysis of modern mission history. One puts foreign missionaries at the heart of the story. A second emphasizes the colonial aspect of modern missions. Here, missionaries are not heroes but villains who are implicated in hegemonic schemes of imperial domination. Thirdly, mission history is subordinated to one of its outcomes: the advent of World Christianity. In this master narrative, the concept of contextualization looms large, bolstered by Sanneh's notion of translatability and emphasis on the agency of non-Westerners who participate in and subtly shape the complex social processes of evangelization. While all three of these master narratives are insightful, none of them adequately balances concern for missionary initiative and indigenous agency. Borrowing from speech act theory, Skreslet offers a new analytical approach to the modern roots of World Christianity that differentiates between what a speaker might intend to communicate and the effects of what has been said or actions taken, both in the moment and over time. Corresponding to the concepts of illocution and perlocution, as these technical terms are used in speech act theory, the book is structured in two main sections. Initially, the focus is on expressed missionary motives. Part two engages a representative set of modern-era mission performances involving many more actors than just the foreign evangelizers whose stated or implied intentions are emphasized in part one.
