Black Riders Jerome J. McGann, 2020-11-10 English literature Yeats once noted has all but completely shaped itself in the printing press Finding this true particularly of modernist writing Jerome McGann demonstrates the extraordinary degree to which modernist styles are related to graphic and typographic design to printed letters black riders on a blank page that create language for the eye He sketches the relation of modernist writing to key developments in book design beginning with the nineteenth century renaissance of printing and demonstrates the continued interest of postmodern writers in the visible language of modernism McGann then offers a philosophical investigation into the relation of knowledge and truth to this kind of imaginative writing Exploring the work of writers like William Morris Emily Dickinson W B Yeats Ezra Pound and Gertrude Stein as well as Laura Riding and Bob Brown he shows how each exploits the visibilities of language often by aligning their work with older traditions of so called Adamic language McGann argues that in modernist writing philosophical nominalism emerges as a key aesthetic point of departure Such writing thus develops a pragmatic and performative answer to Plato in the matter of poetry's relation to truth and philosophy

Wake Up and Die Right! Ben Foster, 2010-06 How might it happen that a boy of five or six would be tortured by the question of the existence of God How would this happen even if that boy were raised to be an atheist by atheist parents If the boy was never baptized and never taken to church Was never told about any religion This book records the spiritual autobiography of a boy who raised in a household which discouraged belief in anything religious nevertheless came at a young age to worry about the place of God in his life and family and suffered from intense fears that he would be condemned to hell because he had not been baptized Looking back here is the way the author describes his early years I grew up in a household with no place for God or religion My mother and father were atheists They did not believe in any divinities and certainly not in the divinity of Jesus Perhaps like some of their intellectual friends they dismissed the idea that Jesus of Nazareth ever existed This was in America in the 1930 s and 40 s a time when scientists and intellectuals challenged the claims of Christianity For my parents the questions of who Jesus was and whether he had actually walked the earth were irrelevant Is there a God in heaven Is creation a gift to us from God Does God love and care for his children These were not questions my parents would entertain Such statements had been denounced as meaningless by the scientists and the rationalists who insisted that all discussions of God are pointless The author recalls his childhood swept by the cold winds of atheism as especially painful because his mother suffering from the loss of meaning of the atheist's vision sank into a deep depression and then into madness She suffered a series of nervous breakdowns and spent most of the author's early years in and out of mental hospitals As a child the author felt spiritually bankrupt He felt he counted for little in my parents world I counted for even less in the larger world I looked out at the vast universe that the scientists described and saw it as a frightening place Darkness and frozen space extended for millions of miles in all directions and there was nothing out there to comfort us or give our lives meaning The author was born into the Great Depression and went off to grammar school during World War II both events exerting a terrible impact on his family contributing to his mother's mental imbalance and his own feelings of insecurity I was four years old the author writes when World War II began As the war grew more widespread and destructive I watched with terror the newsreel reports of Nazi bombings I listened horrified to the newscasts on the radio Every week fresh issues of Time and Life magazines entered our house and they brought new images of cities in flames or bombed to smoking rubble There were close up photos of the dead on the battlefield of soldiers bleeding to death of bodies on a beach I recall in particular a photo of a boy my age standing in the ruins of his apartment building somewhere in Europe He looks lost frightened and utterly alone He wonders if his mother missing since the bombing is alive in the ruins Rubble and twisted metal are all that remain of the city street he had called his home Turning the pages of that Life magazine a terrible fear and sorrow seized me I identified with the boy I feared what had happened to him would happen to me The author speaks of how from a source he could not name powerful religious emotions primarily fear of a God of Wrath took hold of him and initiated me into a secretive life I kept hidden from my father The fears were brought into focus when I casually used words that had a religious meaning I didn't understand The words were these Cross my heart and hope to die I had heard other kids utter these words when they wanted to impress one another with the truth of an assertion They often said them when it seemed fair!
