The Expert Consumer Alain Chatriot, Marie-Emmanuelle Chessel, 2017-09-29 Recent work has focused on the politics of consumption and its manifestation in a number of situations This volume extends these debates providing a tighter focus and contributing to a noticeable gap in the field that numerous scholars are beginning to turn towards that is organizations of consumers themselves who have chosen to speak for all consumers and similar such bodies of experts which act on behalf of consumers The volume is fortunate in drawing upon a number of scholars who are about to publish major works on the subject but who are happy to provide summary versions of their work for the volume The book pays particular attention to specific moments in consumer mobilization and expertise capturing the range of types of expert consumers across the twentieth century from ethical consumer groups at the beginning to intellectuals housewives economists and public officials It addresses questions on the nature of consumer organizing which bodies can speak for consumers whether one consumer voice can ever be identified and the relationship between consumption and citizenship Overview pieces demonstrate the larger narratives involved in the study of the expert consumer whilst more comparative essays set out the nature of transatlantic exchanges Other contributions point to the similarities across seemingly different consumption regimes while case studies of specific organisations and key historical moments draw out the particularities of consumer expertise

Headstrong and Unorthodox Pioneers for a Critical Theory of Consumption Michael-Burkhard Piorkowsky, Karl Kollmann, 2023-08-28 This volume offers contributions on the fundamentals of current consumption theory and consumption research which have developed almost entirely from originally unorthodox approaches against traditional micro and macroeconomic theory The inspiration came mainly from social economic behavioural research and ecological economics But the reception is very patchy and the history is largely forgotten With reference to the work of earlier authors new arguments are offered to the current discussion about delimitations and paradoxes in consumption and the still narrowly understood consumer role It is as much about rework in sharpening the understanding of consumption and consumers in their lifeworlds as it is about indications of fruitfulness for the analysis of open questions It is about arguments for a paradigmatic reorientation of consumer research and policy The contributions address in particular ambivalences options and future modes in consumption in the search for individual satisfaction and ecological sustainability This book is a translation of an original German edition The translation was done with the help of artificial intelligence machine translation by the service DeepL.com A subsequent human revision was done primarily in terms of content so that the book will read stylistically differently from a conventional translation
