

Rationalism and empiricism

- ♦ Descartes' rationalism:
 - arguments for God
 - experiences must have a cause
 - comprehension of material objects as extended doesn't derive from the senses
- ♦ Hume's empiricism:
 - the idea of extension derives from the senses
 - attack on primary/secondary quality distinction
 - we don't know experience must have a cause, and could only know the causes of experience from experience itself

Amanda Shankland,2024-09-01 In the face of escalating water scarcity effective water management has become a central concern globally The Murray Darling Basin spanning over a million square kilometres across four states and one territory is a lifeline for Australian agriculture and rural communities Cultivating Community How discourse shapes the philosophy practice and policy of water management in the Murray Darling Basin dissects the prevailing environmental discourses shaping water policy in the Murray Darling Basin and assesses their implications for both the environment and for farming communities Drawing on five months of extensive field research among farmers and Murray Darling Basin Authority officials Dr Amanda Shankland presents a nuanced understanding of farmer perspectives within the broader policy discourse By examining the interplay between environmental discourses and farmer knowledge Shankland sheds light on how different ideologies shape policy decisions and subsequently impact water management practices Central to the book's contribution is the identification and analysis of four key environmental discourses prevalent in the Murray Darling Basin: administrative rationalism, economic rationalism, democratic pragmatism and green environmentalism Against the backdrop of looming water scarcity and the declining health of the Murray Darling Basin, Cultivating Community challenges these dominant discourses by highlighting a new perspective: community centrism, which emphasises community-based cooperation and engagement in water management By amplifying farmer voices and advocating for a more inclusive approach to policy deliberations, Cultivating Community paves the way for alternative futures in water management that prioritise social values alongside economic and environmental considerations Cultivating Community is a timely and indispensable resource for charting a path towards a more resilient and equitable water future in the Murray Darling Basin and beyond

Emotion, Social Theory, and Social Structure J. M. Barbalet, 2001-09-06 Emotion, Social Theory, and Social Structure takes sociology in a new direction It examines key aspects of social structure by using a fresh understanding of emotions categories Through that synthesis emerge new perspectives on rationality, class structure, social action, conformity, basic rights and social change As well as giving an innovative view of social processes, J M Barbalet's study also reveals unappreciated aspects of emotions by considering fear, resentment, vengefulness, shame and confidence in the context of social structure While much has been written on the social consequences of excessive or pathological emotions, this book demonstrates the centrality of emotions to routine operations of social interaction Dr Barbalet also re-evaluates the nature of social theory for once the importance of emotions to social processes becomes clear, the intellectual constitution of sociology and therefore its history must be rethought
