Curious Species Whitney Barlow Robles,2024-01-05 A compelling and innovative exploration of how animals shaped the field of natural history and its ecological afterlives Can corals build worlds Do rattlesnakes enchant What is a raccoon and what might it know Animals and the questions they raised thwarted human efforts to master nature during the so called Enlightenment a historical moment when rigid classification pervaded the study of natural history people traded in people and imperial avarice wrapped its tentacles around the globe Whitney Barlow Robles makes animals the unruly protagonists of eighteenth century science through journeys to four spaces and ecological zones the ocean the underground the curiosity cabinet and the field Her forays reveal a forgotten lineage of empirical inquiry one that forced researchers to embrace uncertainty This tumultuous era in the history of human animal encounters still haunts modern biologists and ecologists as they struggle to fathom animals today In an eclectic fusion of history and nature writing Robles alternates between careful historical investigations and probing personal narratives These excavations of the past and present of distinct nonhuman creatures reveal the animal foundations of human knowledge and show why tackling our current environmental crisis first requires looking back in time

Mountains and Marshes David Rains Wallace,2015-12-01 Described as a writer in the tradition of Henry David Thoreau John Muir and other self educated seers by the San Francisco Chronicle David Rains Wallace turns his attention to one of the most distinctive corners of California the San Francisco Bay Area Weaving a complex and engaging story of the Bay Area from personal historical and environmental threads Wallace's exploration of the natural world takes readers on a fascinating tour through the region from Point Reyes National Park where an abandoned campfire and an invasion of Douglas fir trees combusted into a dangerous wildfire to Oakland's Lake Merritt a surprising site amid skyscrapers for some of the best local bird watching from the majestic Diablo Range near San Jose where conservationists fight against land developers to preserve species like mountain lions and golden eagles to the Golden Gate itself the iconic bridge that geologically speaking leads not to gold but to serpentine Each essay explores a different place throughout the four corners of the Bay Area uncovering the flora and fauna that make each so extraordinary With a naturalist's eye a penchant for local history and an obvious passion for the subject Wallace's new collection is among the first nature writing dedicated entirely to the Bay Area Informative engrossing and exquisitely described Mountains and Marshes affords unexpected yet familiar views of a beloved region that even amidst centuries of growth and change is as dynamic as it is timeless The Standard Natural History John Sterling Kingsley, Elliott Coues, 1885
