Rewiring Financial Markets For Good Charles Moore, The digital revolution post-pandemic will lead to a radical departure from the traditional model of monetary exchange. The creation of a Digital Financial Market Infrastructure will underpin the unbundling and re-bundling of the functions of money within society. Although digital money itself is not new to modern economies, digital legal tender (DLT) facilitates instantaneous peer-to-peer transfers of value in a way that today is impossible. The importance of digital connectedness will often supersede the importance of macroeconomic links and lead to the establishment of Digital Financial Markets linking the currency to membership of a particular financial market rather than to a specific country Capitalism underpins wealth generation and hence the existence of a digital financial market Capitalism is an economic system in which private individuals or corporations own and control the flow of capital throughout society Capitalism is built on the idea that compensation and profits derived from capital allocations reflect the relative contribution an individual or firm makes from the utilisation of capital to the total wealth of a society The genius of capitalism lies in its ability to produce organic answers to most problems of scarcity and resource allocation Markets tend naturally to reward the ideas that prove most useful and to penalize dysfunctional behaviour They can bring about broad based outcomes that states cannot by driving vast numbers of individuals to adjust their behaviour in response to price signals Capital is the defining feature of modern economies that transforms mere wealth into an asset that creates more wealth Capital is the lifeblood of capitalist societies yet capital unequal distribution throughout the community codifies the widening wealth gap between the holders of capital and everybody else

Motor, 1940 Rewiring Politics Costas Panagopoulos, 2007-02 A century ago national political parties nominating conventions for U S presidential candidates often resembled wide open brawls filled with front stage conflicts and back room deals Today leagues of advisors precisely plan and carefully script these events even though their outcomes are largely preordained Rewiring Politics offers the first in depth exploration of the profound changes in the nominating process to focus on the role of the media Fourteen luminaries from the worlds of media and politics examine how the technology of coverage has transformed conventions over time As the contributors demonstrate the story of the evolution of the nominating process cannot be told without the concomitant story of the revolution in mass media The impact of the media on political conventions has received surprisingly little scholarly attention Yet few aspects of the American political process have faced such radical alterations in such a short period of time From the first live television broadcast from a national convention on June 21 1948 during the Republican convention in Philadelphia through the advent of cable networks and the Internet both the presentation and the content of the nominating process has been transformed Today because the party s nominee is selected before the event candidates use their conventions and convention coverage as a form of advertising They design mega media events to electrify the party faithful and to woo undecided voters by dazzling them Without a doubt the contributors conclude conventions still matter though their role has changed over the past decades Rewiring Politics helps readers assess the evolution of conventions in contemporary politics and addresses the implications of these changes on our parties politics and society
