Re Educating Chinese Anti Communists:

Re-Educating Chinese Anti-Communists J.A. Fyfield, 2018-09-19 This book first published in 1982 is an in depth study of the process of re education undergone by those who had opposed the Communist revolution in China Told at first hand by several men who had occupied military or government positions of influence it records their long years in prison and the system of re education and also in the interests of balance examines the system from the side of the Communist leadership

The Geography of Injustice Barak Kushner, 2024-03-15 In The Geography of Injustice Barak Kushner argues that the war crimes tribunals in East Asia formed and cemented national divides that persist into the present day In 1946 the Allies convened the Tokyo Trial to prosecute Japanese wartime atrocities and Japan s empire At its conclusion one of the judges voiced dissent claiming that the justice found at Tokyo was only the sham employment of a legal process for the satisfaction of a thirst for revenge War crimes tribunals Kushner shows allow for the history of the defeated to be heard In contemporary East Asia a fierce battle between memory and history has consolidated political camps across this debate The Tokyo Trial courtroom as well as the thousands of other war crimes tribunals opened in about fifty venues across Asia were legal stages where prosecution and defense curated facts and evidence to craft their story about World War Two These narratives and counter narratives form the basis of postwar memory concerning Japan s imperial aims across the region The archival record and the interpretation of court testimony together shape a competing set of histories for public consumption The Geography of Injustice offers compelling evidence that despite the passage of seven decades since the end of the war East Asia is more divided than united by history

Vietnam's Children in a Changing World Rachel Burr, 2006-03-24 Like the majority of children living in the global South today a large number of Vietnamese youths work to help support their families International human rights organizations have focused on these children seeking to bring their lives into line with an understanding of childhood that is generally accepted in the developed world In this ethnographic study Rachel Burr draws on her daily observations of working children in Hanoi and argues that these youngsters are misunderstood by the majority of agencies that seek to help them Most aid programs embrace a model of childhood that is based on Western notions of individualism and bountiful resources They further assume that this model is universally applicable even in cultures that advocate a collective sense of self and in countries that do not share the same economic advantages Burr presents the voices and experiences of Vietnamese children in the streets in a reform school and in an orphanage to show that workable solutions have become lost within the rhetoric propagated by aid organizations The reality of providing primary education or adequate healthcare for all children for instance does not stand a chance of being achieved until adequate resources are put in place Yet organizations preoccupied with the child rights agenda are failing to acknowledge the distorted global distribution of wealth in favor of Western nations Offering a unique firsthand look at the experiences of children in contemporary Vietnam this book also provides a broad analysis of how internationally led human rights agendas are often

Press and Publications Summary United States Information Service (Taipei, Taiwan), 1968-10 Communist China: a Strategic Survey Army Library (U.S.), 1966 In Camps Jana K. Lipman, 2020-06-02 After the US war in Vietnam close to 800 000 Vietnamese left the country by boat survived and sought refuge throughout Southeast Asia and the Pacific This is the story of what happened in the camps In Camps raises key questions that remain all too relevant today Who is a refugee Who determines this status And how does it change over time From Guam to Malaysia and the Philippines to Hong Kong In Camps is the first major work on Vietnamese refugee policy to pay close attention to host territories and to explore Vietnamese activism in the camps and the diaspora This book explains how Vietnamese were transformed from de facto refugees to individual asylum seekers to repatriates Ambitiously covering people on the ground local governments teachers and corrections officers as well as powerful players such as the UN High Commissioner for Refugees and the US government Jana Lipman shows that the local politics of first asylum sites often drove international refugee policy Unsettling most accounts of Southeast Asian migration to the US In Camps instead emphasizes the contingencies inherent in refugee policy and experiences The Australian Journal of Education , 1986 Political Thinking of the Indonesian Chinese, 1900-1995 Leo Suryadinata, 1997 This sourcebook aims to introduce to English readers the political thinking of the Chinese minority in Indonesia spanning almost a century from 1900 1995 Comprising the writings speeches letters and memoirs of Indonesian Chinese leaders or individuals who have been significant in the development of Chinese minority thinking in Indonesia translated from Peranakan Malay Indonesian Chinese or Dutch this volume thus presents the voices of eminent Indonesian Chinese This updated and expanded edition of the book first published in 1979 includes several new articles of material bringing post 1997 developments up to date significantly till 1995 the year of the Bali Declaration when the Chinese tycoons were asked to help solve the Indonesian economic problem Education and Society in Hong Kong and Macao M. Bray, Ramsey Koo, 2006-06-28 Hong Kong and Macao have much in common The dominant populations in both territories are Cantonese speaking Chinese both are small in area both are urban societies both have been colonies of European powers and both have undergone political transition to reunification with China Yet in education for reasons that are analysed in this book they are very different The patterns of similarities and differences in the two territories make a fascinating basis for comparative study The overarching theme of the book on continuity and change is particularly pertinent following the transition of the two societies of the postcolonial era This thoroughly revised and expanded second edition builds on the widely acclaimed first edition The work has been recognised as a significant contribution to the broad field of comparative education as well as to study of the specific societies which are its main focus Pacific Affairs ,1964 Includes book reviews and bibliographies
