Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature Anna Lorraine Guthrie,1904 An author subject index to selected general interest periodicals of reference value in libraries Archival Strategies and Techniques Michael R. Hill,1993-09-28 Historical and biographical work is becoming a more common type of qualitative research done by social scientists and usually requires the extensive use of formal archives housed in universities governments museums and other institutions This practical and concise book provides an introduction for the novice on conducting archival research and covers such topics as contacting and preparing to work in archives the protocol of using archives and ways of organizing and referencing the useful data from the archive Library Skills (ENHANCED eBook) Sylvia J. Duncan,1989-09-01 This book demonstrates the usefulness of libraries and books by presenting a basic overview of how to find and use library materials Many of the exercises require visits to a school or public library Most of the worksheets can be completed with minimal assistance from the teacher The work study pages reflect the changing world of libraries and information centers New technology affecting present libraries and libraries of the future is introduced and explained on these pages Other People's Money Jeff Worsham,2019-06-26 Questions of influence are at the heart of political science A particularly compelling answer to the question of who wields influence takes the form of subsystems theory Combining detailed historiographical and quantitative analysis Jeffrey Worsham tracks explains and explores the policy consequences of political variation in the financial subsystem from its inception through the 1990s arguing that subsystems are a wavering equilibrium solution to the problem of policymaking in the United States The book answers three interrelated questions with regard to the wavering equilibrium solution First what have been the major patterns of participation or political variation in the financial subsystem for the first 100 years of its existence Second what accounts for those patterns and the change from one type of politics to another Finally what are the consequences of different types of subsystem politics for public policy Make Room for TV Lynn Spigel,2013-11-26 Between 1948 and 1955 nearly two thirds of all American families bought a television set and a revolution in social life and popular culture was launched In this fascinating book Lynn Spigel chronicles the enormous impact of television in the formative years of the new medium how over the course of a single decade television became an intimate part of everyday life What did Americans expect from it What effects did the new daily ritual of watching television have on children Was television welcomed as an unprecedented window on the world or as a one eyed monster that would disrupt households and corrupt children Drawing on an ambitious array of unconventional sources from sitcom scripts to articles and advertisements in women s magazines Spigel offers the fullest available account of the popular response to television in the postwar years She chronicles the role of television as a focus for evolving debates on issues ranging from the ideal of the perfect family and changes in women s role within the household to new uses of domestic space The arrival of television did more than turn the living room into a private theater it offered a national stage on which to play out and resolve conflicts about the way Americans should live Spigel chronicles this lively and contentious debate as it took place in the popular media Of particular interest is her treatment of the way in which the phenomenon of television itself was constantly deliberated from how programs should be watched to where the set was placed to whether Mom Dad or kids should control the dial Make Room for TV combines a powerful analysis of the growth of electronic culture with a nuanced social history of family life in postwar America offering a provocative glimpse of the way television became the mirror of so many of America s hopes and fears and dreams
