Reclaiming Reading Richard J. Meyer, Kathryn F. Whitmore, 2012-03-22 Inviting teachers back to the role of reflective advocates for thoughtful reading instruction this book presents theory and pedagogical possibilities to reclaim and build upon the knowledge base that was growing when government mandates scripted commercial programs and high stakes tests took over as the dominant agenda for reading instruction in U S public schools Focusing on literacy learners and their teachers lives as literate souls it examines how the teaching of reading can be reclaimed via an intensive reconsideration of five pillars as central to the teaching and learning of reading learning teaching curriculum language and sociocultural contexts Reclaiming Reading articulates the knowledge base that was marginalized or disrupted by legislated and policy intrusions into classrooms and provides practical examples for taking good reading instruction out of the cracks and moving it back to the center of the classroom Explaining what happens in readers minds as they read and how teachers can design practices to support that process this book encourages teachers to initiate pedagogy that will help them begin or return to the stance of reflective knowledgeable professional decision makers Moody's Manual of Investments, American and Foreign ,1916

McGill-Franzen, Richard Allington, 2010-09-17 Bringing together a wide range of research on reading disabilities this comprehensive Handbook extends current discussion and thinking beyond a narrowly defined psychometric perspective Emphasizing that learning to read proficiently is a long term developmental process involving many interventions of various kinds all keyed to individual developmental needs it addresses traditional questions What is the nature or causes of reading disabilities How are reading disabilities assessed How should reading disabilities be remediated To what extent is remediation possible but from multiple or alternative perspectives Taking incursions into the broader research literature represented by linguistic and anthropological paradigms as well as psychological and educational research the volume is on the front line in exploring the relation of reading disability to learning and language to poverty and prejudice and to instruction and schooling The editors and authors are distinguished scholars with extensive research experience and publication records and numerous honors and awards from professional organizations representing the range of disciplines in the field of reading disabilities Throughout their contributions are contextualized within the framework of educators struggling to develop concrete instructional practices that meet the learning needs of the lowest achieving readers
