Health, Social Change & Communities Pranee Liamputtong, Heather Gardner, 2003

Governments while concentrating on policy development and the pursuit of strategic approaches have concurrently distanced themselves from the direct provision of services to become funders not providers Funding is provided to agencies whether from the public or private sector on the basis of the strength of their competitive tenders and the number of relevant organizations that they have included The effects that these and other changes in the political and economic sectors have had on Australian society at the beginning of the 21st century are the concern of the authors of Health Social Change and Communities Since communities are both the recipients and the participants in health and social policy the book is a sympathetic but critical analysis of some of those community groups and how they are faring in terms of health and social indicators All of the chapters focus on the four main areas An overview of current social cultural or epidemiological perspectives relevant to the community and their members health Problems or issues in Australian society as reflective of wider international concerns A discussion of relevant health policies and programs Measures that can be taken to improve the health of selected groups in the community Health Social Change and Communities is written for readers who either have an interest or who are engaged in working with members of communities With its presentation of diversity in communities the book provides insights to enlighten and influence thinking about health and social policy

Dietary Patterns in Cancer Prevention and Survival Raul Zamora-Ros, Esther

Molina-Montes,2024-09-13 Cancer is a leading cause of death worldwide accounting for nearly 10 million deaths in 2020 or nearly one in six deaths Although some individuals are at higher risk due to non modifiable risk factors between 30 40% of all cancer cases are estimated to be preventable through healthy lifestyles including healthy diets In 2018 a report from the World Cancer Research Fund and the American Institute for Cancer Research promoted ten cancer prevention recommendations on diet and nutrition But characterizing a healthy diet is not easy since foods and nutrients are not consumed alone Over the past decade dietary pattern analysis has emerged as an alternative and complementary approach to evaluating the relationship between diet and cancer risk Instead of looking at individual nutrients or foods dietary pattern analysis examines the effects of the overall diet Conceptually dietary patterns represent a broader picture of food and nutrient consumption and may thus be more predictive of disease risk than individual foods or nutrients Research on the effects of diet nutrition and physical activity on the risk of cancer in cancer survivors is growing but it is much more limited than that on risk Therefore the current lifestyle recommendations for cancer survivors should be similar to those for cancer prevention until we do not have specific recommendations

Concise Manual of Hematology and Oncology Michael Andreeff,Dietmar P. Berger,Benjamín Koziner,Monika Engelhardt,Hans A. Messner,Hartmut Henß,Roland Mertelsmann,N. Thatcher,2008-05-16 A real boon for medical practitioners from a number of disciplines this is a practice oriented manual of medical oncology and hematology for day to day use in caring for patients hematologic and neoplastic diseases It is founded on the longstanding experience of a large specialized university department accustomed to having to provide reliable advice in a broad range of circumstances The authors have chosen not to give a comprehensive review of the various subjects but have instead focused on practical methods which have proven to be useful in their experience with special emphasis on standardizing chemotherapy protocols

Cancer David Morris,2003-09-02 This guide explains the principles and practice of oncology in a clear format combining recent research and treatment with a description of the underlying biology The book adopts a multidisciplinary approach which integrates the medical and nursing aspects of cancer care An introductory section discussing general principles and aspects of oncology is followed by site specific chapters describing the epidemiology pathology clinical signs investigations diagnosis and treatment of each cancer type Special chapters are devoted to cancer in children HIV associated malignancies secondary cancers and unknown primary cancers
