Curley, 2023-04-28 In Elders Shades and Women Richard T Curley describes the ceremonial life of a Nilotic community in northern Uganda and traces the alterations in its ceremonial activities from the turn of the twentieth century to the beginning of extensive contact between the Langi and Europeans in the 1960s Setting his analysis within the broad context of Lango social organization Curley discusses the makeup of the community and shows how the innovations of the colonial period led to changes in kinship relations and residential patterns He is particularly attentive to the husband wife relationship and to the changing status of women within a patrilineal system After describing Lango social organization and the changes that it has undergone Curley turns to the three complexes of Lango ceremonial activity One of these traditionally performed by older men has virtually disappeared a victim of altered political relationships The second set comprising eight separate ceremonies performed for married women concerns the problem of incorporating a woman into her husband's lineage while recognizing that she was born in her father's The third complex centering on spirit possession has become increasingly popular and women participate to a much greater extent than men The author treats his religious material within the framework of structural functionalism by concentrating on ceremonial activities rather than on belief and by relating the ceremonies to social processes He departs from structural functionalism however in borrowing heavily from work on the analysis of symbols and he attempts to describe change rather than analyzing Lango religious activity at a single point in time This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact

The Chronicle ,1904 Empire of Honour J. E. Lendon,2001 J E Lendon offers a new interpretation of how the Roman empire worked in the first four centuries AD A despotism rooted in force and fear enjoyed widespread support among the ruling classes of the provinces on the basis of an aristocratic culture of honour shared by rulers and ruled. The competitive Roman and Greek aristocrats of the empire conceived of their relative standing in terms of public esteem or honour and conceived of their cities toward which they felt a warm patriotism as entities locked in a parallel struggle for primacy in honour over rivals. Emperors and provincial governors exploited these rivalries to gain the indispensable co-operation of local magnates by granting honours to individuals and their cities. Since rulers strove for honour as well, their subjects manipulated them with honours in their turn. Honour whose workings are also traced in the Roman army served as a way of talking and thinking about Roman government; it was both a species of power and a way connived in by rulers and ruled of concealing the terrible realities of imperial rule.
