Towards a Film Theory from Below Jiri Anger, 2024-05-30 Operating between film theory media philosophy archival practice and audiovisual research Jiri Anger focuses on the relationship between figuration and materiality in early films experimental found footage cinema and video essays Would it be possible to do film theory from below through the perspective of moving image objects of their multifarious details and facets however marginal unintentional or aleatory they might be Could we treat scratches stains and shakes in archival footage as speculatively and aesthetically generative features Do these material actors have the capacity to create weird shapes within the figurative image that decenter distort and transform the existing conceptual and methodological frameworks Building on his theoretical as well as practical experience with the recently digitized corpus of the first Czech films created by Jan Kr eneck between 1898 and 1911 the author demonstrates how technological defects and accidents in archival films shape their aesthetic function and our understanding of the materiality of film in the digital age The specific clashes between the figurative and material spheres are understood through the concept of a crack up This term developed by Francis Scott Fitzgerald and theoretically reimaged by Gilles Deleuze allows us to capture the convoluted relationship between figuration and materiality as inherent to the medium of film containing negativity and productivity difference and simultaneity contingency and fate at the same time even within the tiniest cinematic units

Greek Tragedy on Screen Pantelis Michelakis, 2013-08-29 Greek Tragedy on Screen considers a wide range of films which engage openly with narrative and performative aspects of Greek tragedy This volume situates these films within the context of on going debates in film criticism and reception theory in relation to theoretical or critical readings of tragedy in contemporary culture Michelakis argues that film adaptations of Greek tragedy need to be placed between the promises of cinema for a radical popular culture and the divergent cultural practices and realities of commercial films art house films silent cinema and films for television home video and DVD In an age where the boundaries between art and other forms of cultural production are constantly intersected and reconfigured the appeal of Greek tragedy for the screen needs to be related to the longing it triggers for origins and authenticity as well as to the many uncertainties such as homelessness violence and loss of identity with which it engages The films discussed include not only critically recognized films by directors such Michael Cacoyannis Jules Dassin and Pier Paolo Pasolini but also more recent films by Woody Allen Tony Harrison Werner Herzog and Lars von Trier Moreover it also considers earlier and largely neglected films of cinematic traditions which lie outside Hollywood

The Cinema of Me Alisa Lebow, 2012-05-29 When a filmmaker makes a film with herself as a subject she is already divided as both the subject matter of the film and the subject making the film The two senses of the word are immediately in play the matter and the maker thus the two ways of being subjectified as both subject and object Subjectivity finds its filmic expression not surprisingly in very personal ways yet it is nonetheless shaped by and in relation to collective expressions of identity that can transform the cinema of me into the cinema of we Leading scholars and practitioners of first person film are brought together in this groundbreaking collection to consider the theoretical ideological and aesthetic challenges wrought by this form of filmmaking in its diverse cultural geographical and political contexts

Counter-Archive Paula Amad, 2010-09-23 Tucked away in a garden on the edge of Paris is a multimedia archive like no other Albert Kahn's Archives de la Plan te 1908 1931 Kahn's vast photo cinematographic experiment preserved world memory through the privileged lens of everyday life and Counter Archive situates this project in its biographic intellectual and cinematic contexts Tracing the archive's key influences such as the philosopher Henri Bergson the geographer Jean Brunhes and the biologist Jean Comandon Paula Amad maps an alternative landscape of French cultural modernity in which vitalist philosophy cross pollinated with early film theory documentary film with the avant garde cinematic models of temporality with the early Annales school of history and film's appropriation of the planet with human geography and colonial ideology At the heart of the book is an insightful meditation upon the transformed concept of the archive in the age of cinema and an innovative argument about film's counter archival challenge to history The first comprehensive study of Kahn's films Counter Archive also offers a vital historical perspective on debates involving archives media and memory

Archiveology Catherine Russell, 2018-03-15 In Archiveology Catherine Russell uses the work of Walter Benjamin to explore how the practice of archiveology the reuse recycling appropriation and borrowing of archival sounds and images by filmmakers provides ways to imagine the past and the future Noting how the film archive does not function simply as a place where moving images are preserved Russell examines a range of films alongside Benjamin's conceptions of memory document excavation and historiography She shows how city films such as Nicole V dr s s Paris 1900 1947 and Thom Andersen's Los Angeles Plays Itself 2003 reconstruct notions of urban life and uses Christian Marclay's The Clock 2010 to draw parallels between critical cinephilia and Benjamin's theory of the phantasmagoria Russell also discusses practices of collecting in archiveological film and rereads films by Joseph Cornell and Rania Stephan to explore an archival practice that dislocates and relocates the female image in film In so doing she not only shows how Benjamin's work is as relevant to film theory as ever she shows how archiveology can awaken artists and audiences to critical forms of history and memory

Reuse, Misuse, Abuse Jaimie Baron, 2020-11-13 In contemporary culture existing audiovisual recordings are constantly reused and repurposed for various ends raising questions regarding the ethics of such appropriations particularly when the recording depicts actual people and events Every reuse of a preexisting recording is on some level a misuse in that it was not intended or at least anticipated by the original maker but not all misuses are necessarily unethical In fact there are many instances of productive misuse that seem justified At the same time there are other instances in which the misuse shades into abuse Documentary scholars have long engaged with the question of the ethical responsibility of documentary makers in relation to their subjects But what happens when this responsibility is set at a remove when the recording already exists for the taking and repurposing Reuse Misuse and Abuse surveys a range of contemporary films and videos that appropriate preexisting footage and attempts to theorize their ethical implications
