The Rise of East Asia Mark Berger, Douglas Borer, 2002-09-11 There is great interest in the Pacific Century and what its implications for the future will be. The rapid economic growth of East Asia was already setting the region apart from the rest of the world by the 1970s. By the 1980s the trend was seen to have spread southward to Thailand, Malaysia and Indonesia while China's provinces had also become integral to the regional economic boom. In this exciting new study many of the ideas and expectations associated with the Pacific Century are placed under critical scrutiny. The book includes studies of particular countries such as China, Japan, South Korea, Vietnam, Indonesia and Malaysia. There is analysis of economic and political trends in the region, the reasons behind its rise and its importance on a global scale. The rise of East Asia represents an historic turning point with immense significance world wide. This book will be of interest to anyone concerned about the new approaches to and the debate about the rise of East Asia and the coming of the Pacific Century. Political Psychology in Japan Ofer Feldman, 1999 The purpose of this book is to detail the aspects of political psychology in Japan. It describes and analyses the major characteristics of political behaviour and attitudes in this non-western society starting with the individual level continuing through political leadership, decision making and choice and ending in public mass behaviour, attitudes towards foreigners and foreign countries and facets related to the culture and national character. The chapters explore such issues as political culture, political socialisation and education, social movement and mass mobilisation, authoritarianism, voting behaviour, lifestyle, xenophobia and self/other orientation in Japan. States and Development in the Asian Pacific Rim Richard P. Appelbaum, 1992-03-13 This book is an edited volume of eleven chapters that focus on state policy and its consequences for economic development and social transformation in East Asia.
