Good Nature Kathy Willis,2024-12-03 A ground breaking investigation into newly discovered evidence showing that remarkable things happen to our bodies and our minds when our senses connect with the natural world We all take for granted the idea that being in nature makes us feel better But if you were a skeptical scientist or indeed any kind of sceptic who wanted hard scientific evidence for this idea where would you look And how would that evidence be gathered It wasn't until Dr Kathy Willis was asked to contribute to an international project looking for the societal benefits we gain from plants that she stumbled across a study that radically changed the way she saw the natural world In the study there was clear proof that patients recovering from gall bladder operations recovered more quickly if they were looking at trees In fact in the last decade there has been an explosion of proof that incredible things happen to our bodies and our minds when our senses interact with the natural world In Good Nature Kathy Willis takes the reader on a journey with her to dig out all the experiments around the world that are looking for this evidence experiments made easier by the new kinds of data being collected from satellites and big data biobanks Having a vase of roses on your desk or a green wall in your office makes a measurable difference to your wellbeing certain scents in room diffusers genuinely can boost your immune system and in a chapter that Kathy calls Hidden Sense we learn that touching organic soil has a significant effect on the healthiness of your microbiome What is remarkable about this book is how its revelations should to be commonsense schools should let children play in nature to improve their health and concentration urban streets should have trees and yet it reveals just how difficult it is to prove this to businesses and governments As Kathy Willis says in her narrative We now know enough to self prescribe in our homes offices or working spaces gardens and when out walking However small these individual actions might be overall they have the potential to provide a large number of health benefits And we need to be encouraging others to do the same Nature is far more than just something that is useful for our health It is not a dispensable commodity It is an inherent part of us

Geography in Secondary Schools Nick Hopwood,2012-06-21 Gaining a better sense of how pupils conceive school geography is crucial if we are to understand the ways in which their ideas and values mediate learning processes Geography in Secondary Schools explores how pupils experience geography lessons what they think geography as a school subject is about and what it means to them School geography aims to help young people think about the world and their place in it in a distinctive geographical way However very little is known about the kinds of thinking and values they associate with the subject Researchers are increasingly taking young people s ideas seriously as important and worthy of investigation in their own right In this book Nick Hopwood takes such an approach to explore the relationships between pupils and geography as a school subject He follows six pupils through their geography lessons for a period of three months discussing their learning experiences in depth with them Their participation in class written work and comments made in interviews form the basis for a detailed investigation of their ideas Communicating Climate Science - HC 254 Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Select Committee on Science and Technology,Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Science and Technology Committee,Andrew Miller,2014-04-02 The Government is failing to clearly and effectively communicate climate science to the public There is little evidence of co ordination amongst Government government agencies and public bodies on communicating climate science despite various policies at national and regional level to mitigate and adapt to climate change The mandate to act on climate can only be maintained if the electorate are convinced that the Government is acting on the basis of strong scientific evidence Ministers therefore need to do more to demonstrate that is the case and consistently reflect the Government approach in all their communications especially with the media The report also criticises the BBC for its reporting on the issue It points out that BBC News teams continue to make mistakes in their coverage of climate science by giving opinions and scientific fact the same weight The BBC is called to develop clear editorial guidelines for all commentators and presenters on the facts of climate that should be used to challenge statements from either side of the climate policy debate that stray too far from the scientific facts It is important that climate science is presented separately from any subsequent policy response Government should work with the learned societies and national academies to develop a source of information on climate science that is discrete from policy delivery comprehensible to the general public and responsive to both current developments and uncertainties in the science Amazonian Ethnobotanical Dictionary James A.
