Radiating Nonuniform Transmission-Line Systems and the Partial Element Equivalent Circuit Method Prof. Dr. Juergen Nitsch,Dr. Frank Gronwald,Prof. Dr. Gunter Wollenberg,2009-10-29 High frequencies of densely packed modern electronic equipment turn even the smallest piece of wire into a transmission line with signal retardation dispersion attenuation and distortion In electromagnetic environments with high power microwave or ultra wideband sources transmission lines pick up noise currents generated by external electromagnetic fields These are superimposed on essential signals the lines acting not only as receiving antennas but radiating parts of the signal energy into the environment This book is outstanding in its originality While many textbooks rephrase that which has been written before this book features an accessible introduction to the fundamentals of electromagnetics an explanation of the newest developments in transmission line theory featuring the transmission line super theory developed by the authors a unique exposition of the increasingly popular PEEC partial element equivalent circuit method including recent research results Both the Transmission Line Theory and the PEEC method are well suited to combine linear structures with circuit networks For engineers researchers and graduate students this text broadens insight into the basics of electrical engineering It provides a deeper understanding of Maxwellian circuit like representations of multi conductor transmission lines justifies future research in this field
