Walt Whitman and the Class Struggle Andrew Lawson, 2009-11 By reconsidering Whitman not as the proletarian voice of American diversity but as a historically specific poet with roots in the antebellum lower middle class Andrew Lawson in Walt Whitman and the Class Struggle defines the tensions and ambiguities about culture class and politics that underlie his poetry Drawing on a wealth of primary sources from across the range of antebellum print culture Lawson uses close readings of Leaves of Grass to reveal Whitman as an artisan and an autodidact ambivalently balanced between his sense of the injustice of class privilege and his desire for distinction Consciously drawing upon the languages of both the elite culture above him and the vernacular culture below him Whitman constructed a kind of middle linguistic register that attempted to filter these conflicting strata and defuse their tensions You shall not look through my eyes either nor take things from me You shall listen to all sides and filter them from yourself By exploring Whitman s internal struggle with the contradictions and tensions of his class identity Lawson locates the source of his poetic innovation By revealing a class conscious and conflicted Whitman he realigns our understanding of the poet s political identity and distinctive use of language and thus valuably alters our perspective on his poetry

Studies of Skin Color in the Early Royal Society Cristina Malcolmson, 2016-04-01 Arguing that the early Royal Society moved science toward racialization by giving skin color a new prominence as an object of experiment and observation Cristina Malcolmson provides the first book length examination of studies of skin color in the Society She also brings new light to the relationship between early modern literature science and the establishment of scientific racism in the nineteenth century Malcolmson demonstrates how unstable the idea of race remained in England at the end of the seventeenth century and yet how extensively the intertwined institutions of government colonialism the slave trade and science were collaborating to usher it into public view Malcolmson places the genre of the voyage to the moon in the context of early modern discourses about human difference and argues that Cavendish's Blazing World and Swift's Gulliver's Travels satirize the Society's emphasis on skin color
