Machines of the Mind Lawrence Fane, Bill Barrette, 2002      The Abstract Impulse Marshall N. Price, 2007 Comprised of nearly fifty paintings sculptures and works on paper The Abstract Impulse highlights artists in such critical movements as Abstract Expressionism Minimalism and Op Art Artists who are included are such canonical figures as Robert Motherwell Jasper Johns Helen Frankenthaler and Robert Mangold among others This publication together with its coinciding exhibition seeks to unveil the pluralistic ways in which abstraction developed after 1950 which will be revealed by the grouping of the works stylistically and thematically into three general sections gesture geometry and introspection      Sculpture Daniel Kunitz, 2003      Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2002      Who's Who in American Art Marquis Who's Who, 2006-11

Sketching as Design Thinking Alma R. Hoffmann, 2019-12-06 This book argues for the importance of sketching as a mode of thinking and the relevance of sketching in the design process design education and design practice Through a wide range of analysis and discussion the book looks at the history of sketching as a resource throughout the design process and asks questions such as where does sketching come from When did sketching become something different to drawing and how did that happen What does sketching look like in the present day Alongside an in depth case study of students teachers and practitioners this book includes a fascinating range of interviews with designers from a wide variety of backgrounds including fashion user experience and architecture Sketching as Design Thinking explains how drawing and sketching remain a prominent aspect in our learning and creative process and provides a rich resource for students of visual art and design      Material Christianity Colleen McDannell, 1995-01-01 What can the religious objects used by nineteenth and twentieth century Americans tell us about American Christianity What is the relationship between the beliefs of the faithful and the landscapes they build This lavishly illustrated book investigates the history and meaning of Christian material culture in America over the last 150 years Drawing on a rich array of historical sources and on in depth interviews with Protestants Catholics and Mormons Colleen McDannell examines the relationship between religion and mass consumption She describes examples of nineteenth century religious practice Victorians burying their dead in cultivated cemetery parks Protestants producing and displaying elaborate family Bibles Catholics writing for special water from Lourdes reputed to have miraculous powers And she looks at today's Christians Mormons wearing sacred underclothing as a reminder of their religious promises Catholics debating the design of tasteful churches and Protestants manufacturing marketing and using a vast array of prints clothing figurines jewelry and toys that some label Jesus junk but that others see as a witness to their faith McDannell claims that previous studies of American Christianity have overemphasized the written cognitive and ethical dimensions of religion presenting faith as a disembodied system of beliefs She shifts attention from the church and the theological seminary to the workplace home cemetery and Sunday school highlighting a different Christianity one in which average Christians experience the divine the nature of death the power of healing and the meaning of community through
