Macroeconomic Crises, Policies, and Growth in Brazil, 1964-90 Donald V. Coes, 1995 World Bank Technical Paper No 269 Water problems are emerging as the most compelling set of issues facing agricultural production in the 1990s To address the policy challenges posed by this dilemma this study focuses on the experience of the European Community now the European Union or EU where high levels of nitrate phosphate and pesticides in surface and groundwater are a source of increasing concern The author examines agricultural and water quality related environmental policies at the EU and national levels and discusses new policy approaches that attempt to integrate agricultural and environmental considerations. This study thus provides insights into policy options for controlling agricultural water pollution that might be useful in other parts of the Finance & Development, December 1995 International Monetary Fund. Decentralization and Subnational Politics in Latin America Tulia G. Falleti, 2010-04-12 Is it always true that decentralization reforms put more power in the hands of governors and mayors In post developmental Latin America the surprising answer to this question is no In fact a variety of outcomes are possible depending largely on who initiates the reforms how they are initiated and in what order they are introduced Tulia G Falleti draws on extensive fieldwork in depth interviews archival records and quantitative data to explain the trajectories of decentralization processes and their markedly different outcomes in Argentina Brazil Colombia and Mexico In her analysis she develops a sequential theory and method that are successful in explaining this counterintuitive result Her research contributes to the literature on path dependence and institutional evolution and will be of interest to scholars of decentralization federalism subnational politics intergovernmental relations and Latin American politics State-Directed Development Atul Kohli, 2004-08-30 Why have some developing country states been more successful at facilitating industrialization than others An answer to this question is developed by focusing both on patterns of state construction and intervention aimed at promoting industrialization Four countries are analyzed in detail South Korea Brazil India and Nigeria over the twentieth century The states in these countries varied from cohesive capitalist mainly in Korea through fragmented multiclass mainly in India to neo patrimonial mainly in Nigeria It is argued that cohesive capitalist states have been most effective at promoting industrialization and neo patrimonial states the least The performance of fragmented multiclass states falls somewhere in the middle After explaining in detail as to why this should be so the study traces the origins of these different state types historically emphasizing the role of different types of colonialisms in the process of state construction in the developing world International Politics And The Sea: The Case Of Brazil Michael A. Morris, 2019-03-08 Because Brazil's emergence as a major power is paralleled by its emergence as an ocean power the country is a particularly important example of the ocean policies of developing states. Ocean affairs have become increasingly important for Brazilian foreign policy and Brazil in turn has come to occupy a distinctive position in bilateral regional and global negotiations for a new ocean order This book surveys all aspects of Brazilian ocean policy domestic influences naval affairs offshore petroleum exploration shipping and fishing National ocean policy is related to international politics through analysis of Brazil's participation at international maritime conferences and its maritime relations with other states The final chapter compares Brazil's ocean policy with policies of other states both developing and developed
