Mad about Wildlife Ann Herda-Rapp, Theresa Goedeke, 2005-05-01 This edited volume documents the presence and types of Nature discourse that emerge during conflicts between people over wildlife This collection of qualitative case studies demonstrates how social groups create opposing symbolic meanings of Nature and highlights the way in which the successful imposition of those meanings affects wildlife people generally and management professionals Together the chapters illustrate the significant untapped utility of constructionist approaches for understanding social conflict over wildlife issues and for managing natural resources in a way that acknowledges and incorporates different definitions of nature Human-Animal Studies Margo DeMello, 2012-04 An exhaustive listing of books journals articles films conferences college programs organizations and websites from the new and exciting discipline of Human Animal studies The information was gathered by leading academics in the humanities the social sciences and the natural sciences this is the only reference of its kind This project was completed in conjunction with the book Teaching the Animal Animals and Society Margo DeMello, 2021-04-13 Human animal studies is an interdisciplinary field that explores the spaces that animals occupy in human social and cultural worlds It examines the interactions humans and animals have with each other and the ways animal lives intersect with human societies Since existing social orders rely on the exploitation of animals to serve human needs the questions posed by human animal studies touch upon a wide range of fundamental issues Animals and Society provides a broad overview of this rapidly growing field Margo DeMello offers students and scholars a holistic and comprehensive picture of the state of inquiry into the relationships that exist between humans and other animals She considers interactions between animals and humans in social organizations such as the family the legal system and political and religious institutions A major focus is the social construction of animals in world cultures and the way in which these social meanings are used to reinforce and perpetuate hierarchical human relationships such as racism sexism and class privilege The book also examines how different human groups construct a range of identities for themselves and for others through animals This second edition of Animals and Society is fully updated and expanded throughout enhancing the book's relevance for student and activist readers alike It includes many new international examples all new case studies and updated supplementary readings Hermeneutics of Human-Animal Relations in the Wake of Rewilding Mateusz Tokarski, 2019-05-21 In consequence of significant social political economic and demographic changes several wildlife species are currently growing in numbers and recolonizing Europe While this is rightly hailed as a success of the environmental movement the return of wildlife brings its own issues As the animals arrive in the places we inhabit we are learning anew that life with wild nature is not easy especially when the accumulated cultural knowledge and experience pertaining to such coexistence have been all but lost This book provides a hermeneutic study of the ways we come to understand the troubling impacts of wildlife by exploring and critically discussing the meanings of ecological discomforts Thus it begins the work of rebuilding the culture of coexistence The cases presented in this book range from crocodile attacks to mice infestations and their analysis consequently builds up an ethics that sees wildlife as active participants in the shaping of human moral and existential reality This book is of interest not only to environmental philosophers who will find here an original contribution to the established ethical discussions but also to wildlife managers and even to those members of the public who themselves struggle to make sense of encounters with their new wild neighbors      Understanding Conflicts about Wildlife Catherine M. Hill, Amanda D. Webber, Nancy E. C. Priston, 2017-05-01 Conflicts about wildlife are usually portrayed and understood as resulting from the negative impacts of wildlife on human livelihoods or property However a greater depth of analysis reveals that many instances of human wildlife conflict are often better understood as people people conflict wherein there is a clash of values between different human groups Understanding Conflicts About Wildlife unites academics and practitioners from across the globe to develop a holistic view of these interactions It considers the political and social dimensions of human wildlife conflicts alongside effective methodological approaches and will be of value to academics conservationists and policy makers

The Snow Leopard and the Goat Shafqat Hussain, 2020-01-10 Who should bear the cost of protecting charismatic wildlife Following the downgrading of the snow leopard s status from endangered to vulnerable by the International Union for Conservation of Nature in 2017 debate has renewed about the actual number of snow leopards in the wild and the most effective strategies for coexisting with these enigmatic animals Evidence from Pakistan and other countries in the snow leopard s home range shows that they rely heavily on human society domestic livestock accounts for as much as 70 percent of their diet Maintaining that the snow leopard is a wild animal conservation NGOs and state agencies have enacted laws that punish farmers for attacking these predators while avoiding engaging with efforts to mitigate the harms suffered by farmers whose herds are reduced by snow leopards This ethnography examines the uneven distribution of costs and benefits involved in snow leopard conservation and shows that for the conservation of nature to be successful the vision interests and priorities of those most affected by conservation policies in this case local farmers must be addressed A case history of Project Snow Leopard in the mountains of northern Pakistan which inspired similar programs in India Bhutan Nepal Mongolia Afghanistan and Tajikistan describes how the animal s food habits are studied how elusive individuals are counted and how a novel kind of snow leopard insurance has protected the species by compensating farmers for livestock losses The Snow Leopard and the Goat demonstrates that characterizing this conflict as one between humans farmers and wildlife snow leopards is misleading as the real conflict is between two human groups farmers and conservationists who see the snow leopard differently

Animals and War Ryan Hediger, 2012-11-01 Animals and War is the first collection of essays to study its topic Using sociology history anthropology and cultural studies it analyzes a wide range of phenomena and exposes the often paradoxical contours of human animal relationships      The Australian Zoologist , 2005 Vols 1 7 and 16 include reports and proceedings of the Royal Zoological Society of New South Wales for 1913 1932 33 and 1969 70      Human-wildlife

Conflict Megan M. Draheim, Francine Madden, Julie-Beth McCarthy, Edward C. M. Parsons, 2015 This is the first human wildlife conflict HWC book to focus on the marine system exploring the complexity of HWC in marine based conservation through the Level of Conflict model a theoretical yet highly practical tool developed in the peace building field Tourism and Animal Ethics David A. Fennell, 2011-12-14 There is a long history of the involvement of animals for tourism purposes in circuses zoos fairs ecotourism and wildlife tourism using animals as the prime focus of their experience The wave of responsibility and sustainability that currently permeates the tourism field is catalyzing deeper moral questions about equity equality rights justice and values in regards to what constitutes acceptable tourism practice Tourism and Animal Ethics represents a required extension of the sustainability imperative and environmental theory by providing a critical account of the role that animals play in tourism This book explores the rich history of animal ethics research that lies outside the field of tourism for the purpose of providing greater theoretical empirical and conceptual guidance inside the field It examines historical and current practices of the use of animals in the tourism industry from both in situ to ex situ consumption and production perspectives identifying a range of ethical issues associated with such use This detailed examination of current animal ethics theories will be instrumental in determining the rightness or wrongness of these practices and hence allow tourism practitioners and theorists to think about these issues and practices in a different light minimizing the impact that the industry has on animals This text provides an interdisciplinary overview of the moral issues related to the use of animals in tourism and contains cutting edge research and boxed international case studies throughout It will appeal to students academics and researchers interested in Tourism Ethics Sustainable Tourism and Wildlife Tourism Rebounding Marine Mammal Species and Conservation Recovery Challenges Andrea Bogomolni, Kristina Cammen, Jennifer Jackman, 2025-03-19 Marine mammals have been valued for millennia for their cultural significance and more often their exploitative resource value Many large whale species remain imperilled or are only recently returning from the brink of extinction In contrast recent conservation measures have allowed for the successful rebound and recovery of many cetaceans and pinniped species some to the point of perceived overabundance whether referring to 1 200 Hawaiian monk seals or 7 million harp seals In addition to their continued intrinsic value alive and thriving today we also appreciate the value of marine mammal species to ecosystem health Yet as we grapple with a lack of historical baselines and uncertain ecological and social carrying capacities several conflicts are emerging at the growing interface between humans and marine mammals These conflicts include ship strikes depredation bycatch impacts of ecotourism competition for resources changing cultural values and political challenges to marine mammal conservation Despite the emergence of theory and application of human dimensions of wildlife in the terrestrial realm the rebound of marine mammals and how we address these conflicts in the coastal and ocean environment are often overlooked when discussing human wildlife conflict issues and solutions This Research Topic aims to increase awareness of these issues to advance the discussion on how we can address these challenges in ocean systems Conflicts with rebounding populations of marine mammals have emerged across diverse ecological sociological economic and political contexts Conflicts often arise from assessing how marine mammals fit into the human world based on the baseline understanding of one's own personal experiences or specific community contexts rather than broader and complex ecosystems understanding or historical context How do we address these emerging complex socio ecological problems related to marine mammals Who defines the problems and how are the problems defined How do we consider often opposing values and interests in the development of solutions and how do we engage diverse stakeholders in decision making processes that shape how we will manage and coexist with marine mammal populations for generations to come How can different disciplines help build the knowledge foundation and strategies necessary to address these challenges

Crossing Boundaries Lynda Birke, Jo Hockenhull, 2012-08-14 Contributors to this book consider how researchers study human animal relationships focussing on the methodologies they use and how these might give new insights into how humans relate to animal kind

Living with Wildlife in Zimbabwe Joshua Matanzima, Beaven Utete, 2024-08-17 This book provides a critical analysis of the interactions of humans and wildlife in Zimbabwe It does not only document conflicts but it also considers opportunities for co existence that can result in the successful conservation practices within protected areas The book offers empirically rich case studies from across different areas of Zimbabwe both urban and rural where people interact with animals both negatively and positively Chapters in the book discuss these interactions through the different lens including the contemporary politico economic crises prevalent in Zimbabwe the failures and successes of the CAMPFIRE programme and gender dynamics of conflicts The book provides an update into the human wildlife interactions situation in Zimbabwe Data presented has policy implications within Zimbabwe and beyond It contributes to different categories policy and mitigation measures including HWC mitigation strategies as well as conservation policy Beaven Utete and Joshua Matanzima have brought together a fascinating collection of papers on human wildlife conflict and coexistence in Zimbabwe The authors highlight the views values and needs of people living with wildlife Voices that are still too often ignored in conservation practice policy and science This is essential reading for anyone interested in decolonizing conservation and the future of wildlife in Africa Professor Jan van der Ploeg Professor Inclusive Conservation Van Hall Larenstein University of Applied Sciences The Netherlands This is a valuable collection from a country we should hear much more from in the field of human wildlife interactions studies In addition to providing interesting case studies and data from Zimbabwe to inform and inspire international conservation efforts I hope it will galvanize national and local efforts to tackle the complex challenges ahead for biodiversity conservation in Zimbabwe Professor Simon Pooley IUCN SSC Specialist Group on Human Wildlife Conflict and Coexistence

Teaching the Animal , Arrivals and Departures Otto Latva, Heta Lähdesmäki, Kirsi Sonck-Rautio, Harri Uusitalo, 2024-09-23 This book explores the human relationship to changing biodiversity by bringing together multidisciplinary insights into human nature relations from the humanities New animal and plant species arrive and previously existing ones may disappear. However, the historical and social perspectives of the changes have been understudied so far. This book approaches the human relationship with changing biodiversity from three different angles: belonging and non-belonging, emotions and environmental policy. The question of belonging and non-belonging is crucial when it comes to changing biodiversity. The authors ask who decides where species can move and live and when invasive becomes native. Similarly, emotions have a big role in human-nature relations. The book shows why we grieve the loss of some species and hate some other species and how our emotions change over time. The writers also aim to show how environmental policies or the practice of governing species are affected by societal discussion, emotions, scientific research and topical concepts as well as how these policies shape biodiversity and our perceptions of different species. The authors provide fresh insights into human-nature relations and explain why we need multidisciplinary approaches in order to fully understand their complexity.

Methods in Human-Animal Studies Annalisa Colombino, Heide K. Bruckner, 2023-06-07 This timely book provides a methodological guide for how to conduct and theorise research in human-animal studies. In response to critiques of the anthropomorphic slant to human-animal research and the increasing political relevance of animals in contemporary environmental debates, this book emphasises methods which bring to light the animal side of multispecies encounters. Drawing from the interdisciplinary strength of human-animal studies, this book contains contributions from practitioners and scholars working in sociology, anthropology, ethology and geography. Each chapter uses a case study approach to present a theoretical framework and empirical application of cutting-edge methods in human-animal studies, from creative writing in multispecies ethnographies to visual methods like videography and body mapping. Organized in three parts: theorizing, collaborating, visualizing, the book equips readers with methodological tools to conduct human-animal studies research attentive to animal lives. Furthermore, chapters reflect on the opportunities, limitations and ethical considerations of research that seeks to understand our more-than-human worlds. The book is aimed towards undergraduate and graduate students in human-animal studies and scholars investigating human-animal relations. It will also be of interest to practitioners and policy makers who engage with conservation, wildlife management or the human-animal interface of urban and regional planning.

Anthrozoology Geoff Hosey, Vicky Melfi, 2018-11-30 Anthrozoology, the study of human-animal interactions (HAIs), has experienced substantial growth during the past 20 years and it is now timely to synthesise what we know from empirical evidence about our relationships with both domesticated and wild animals. Two principal points of focus have become apparent in much of this research. One is the realisation that the strength of these attachments not only has emotional benefits for people but confers health benefits as well such that a whole area has opened up of using companion animals for therapeutic purposes The other is the recognition that the interactions we have with animals have consequences for their welfare too and thus impact on their quality of life Consequently we now study HAIs in all scenarios in which animals come into contact with humans whether as pets companions farm livestock laboratory animals animals in zoos or in the wild This topical area of study is of growing importance for animals in animal management animal handling animal welfare and applied ethology courses and also for people within psychology anthropology and human geography at both the undergraduate and postgraduate level It will therefore be of interest to students researchers and animal managers across the whole spectrum of human animal contact
