Mad Love French Modernist Library:

Amour Fou Andr  Breton, 1988-10-01 Mad Love has been acknowledged an undisputed classic of the surrealist movement since its first publication in France in 1937 Its adulation of love as both mystery and revelation places it in the most abiding of literary traditions but its stormy history and technical difficulty have prevented it from being translated into English until now There has never been any forbidden fruit Only temptation is divine writes Andr  Breton leader of the surrealists in Paris in the 1920s and 30s Mad Love is dedicated to defying the widespread opinion that love wears out like the diamond in its own dust Celebrating breton s own love and lover the book unveils the marvelous in everyday encounters and the hidden depths of ordinary things

Architectural Robotics Keith Evan Green, 2016-02-12 How a built environment that is robotic and interactive becomes an apt home to our restless dynamic and increasingly digital society The relationship of humans to computers can no longer be represented as one person in a chair and one computer on a desk Today computing finds its way into our pockets our cars our appliances it is ubiquitous an inescapable part of our everyday lives Computing is even expanding beyond our devices sensors microcontrollers and actuators are increasingly embedded into the built environment In Architectural Robotics Keith Evan Green looks toward the next frontier in computing interactive partly intelligent meticulously designed physical environments Green examines how these architectural robotic systems will support and augment us at work school and home as we roam interconnect and age Green tells the stories of three projects from his research lab that exemplify the reconfigurable distributed and transfigurative environments of architectural robotics The Animated Work Environment is a robotic work environment of shape shifting physical space that responds dynamically to the working life of the people within it home is a suite of networked distributed robotic furnishings integrated into existing domestic and healthcare environments and LIT ROOM offers a simulated environment in which the physical space of a room merges with the imaginary space of a book becoming a portal to elsewhere How far beyond workstations furniture and rooms can the environments of architectural robotics stretch Green imagines scaled up neighborhoods villages and metropolises composed of physical bits digital bytes living things and their hybrids Not global but local architectural robotics grounds computing in a capacious cyber physical home

The Lost Steps Andr  Breton, 1996-01-01 The Lost Steps Les Pas perdus is Andr  Breton s first collection of critical and polemical essays Composed between 1917 and 1923 these pieces trace his evolution during the years when he was emerging as a central figure in French and European intellectual life They chronicle his tumultuous passage through the Dada movement proclaim his explosive views on Modernism and its heroes and herald the emergence of Surrealism itself Along the way we are given Breton s serious commentaries on his Modernist predecessors Guillaume Apollinaire and Alfred Jarry followed by his not so serious Dada manifestoes Also included are portraits of Marcel Duchamp Francis Picabia and Breton s mysterious friend Jacques Vachi as well as a crisis by crisis account of his dealing with Dada's leader Tristan Tzara. Finally Breton offers a first glimpse of Surrealism the movement that was forever after identified with his name and that stands as a defining force in twentieth century aesthetics. Mark Polizzotti, editorial director of David R. Godine Publisher, is the author of Revolution of the Mind: The Life of André Breton. He is also the translator of Jean Echenoz's Double Jeopardy (Nebraska 1994) and Cherokee (Nebraska 1994) and of André Breton's Conversations: The Autobiography of Surrealism. Mary Ann Caws is Distinguished Professor of French at Hunter College and at the City University of New York. Her most recent work is Robert Motherwell: What Art Holds. She is the translator of André Breton's Mad Love (Nebraska 1987) and Communicating Vessels (Nebraska 1990).

Hesitant Fire (Max Jacob, 1991-01-01) A serious artist and a literary clown nonpareil, Max Jacob was born in Brittany in 1876 and died in a Nazi prison camp in 1944. His influence on modern French poetry was profound and his modernist lyrical verse is still widely read. Much of his other work is equally exciting and original but has waited decades for capable translators. Hesitant Fire makes available for the first time in English some of his best prose. The translators, Moishe Black and Maria Green, have succeeded in catching his gift for linguistic innovation for mimicry and buffoonery often a millimeter away from melancholy. This anthology displays Jacob's versatility for he wrote in a dozen styles. The Story of King Kabul, the First and Gawain, the Kitchen Boy is a fable populated by Balibridgians and Bouloulabassians. Excerpts from In Defense of Tartuffe reveal the poet's mysticism and aestheticism. Those from The Flowering Plant offer brilliant social analysis behind a mask of the Absurd. Flim Flam studies such characters as The Lawyer Who Meant to Have Two Wives Instead of One and The Unmarried Teacher at the High School in Cherbourg. The Dullard Prince blends autobiography and fiction. Letters to Mrs. Goldencalf and other imaginary members of the bourgeoisie are taken from The Dark Room. Never before published, The Maid was inspired by a contemporary murder case. Also included here are portions of The Bouchaballe Property, Jacob's favorite of his own novels, entries from A Traveler's Notebook, personal letters, and four religious meditations. For many English language readers, Hesitant Fire will be an introduction to a writer who was an immediate precursor of Surrealism, who was a close friend of Picasso and Apollinaire, who converted to Catholicism but retained an intensely Jewish outlook and who produced work that is still vivid nearly a half century after his death. Runkle, George Henry Warner, 1897 You've Always Been Wrong (René Daumal, 1995-01-01) You've Always Been Wrong is a collection of prose and poetic works by the French writer René Daumal (1908-1944). A fitful interloper among the Surrealists, Daumal rejected all forms of dogmatic thought, whether religious, philosophical, aesthetic, or political. Much like the Surrealists and French theorists of more recent decades, Daumal saw in the strict forms and certainties of traditional metaphysics a type of thought that enslaves people even as it pretends to liberate them. These cadavers of thought, Daumal wrote with youthful bravado must be met with storms of doubt blasphemes and kerosene for the temples Daumal tied Surrealism with mystical traditions A devoted student of Eastern religions philosophy and literature he combined his skepticism about Western metaphysics with a mystic's effort to maintain intense wakefulness to the present moment and to the irreducible particularity of all objects and experience Such wakefulness according to Daumal leads inevitably to an overwhelming and redemptive vision of the absurd Daumal's important place in French culture of the late 1920s and 1930s has been assured by both his writings and his role as cofounder of the avant garde journal Le Grand Jeu Written between 1928 and 1930 You've Always Been Wrong reveals Daumal's thought as it was coalescing around the rejection of Western metaphysics and the countervailing allure of Eastern mysticism Thomas Vosteen's nuanced translation provides English language readers with a provocative introduction to this iconoclastic author Thomas Vosteen has taught French language and literature for over twenty five years during which time he has also served as a freelance interpreter for the U S Department of State He is currently an assistant professor of French at Eastern Michigan University illustrates the key needs that need to be overcome by the cephalopod research community i.e. rapid and effective mechanisms for exchange of knowledge and resources sharing of laboratory protocols videos tissues samples and data sets innovative approaches and initiatives in public engagement The cuttlefish comic included is an excellent example of a type of media that can be used to expand scientific knowledge to the public and human relationship with live animals There are strategic challenges in convincing globally distributed policy makers and funders of the relevance of cephalopods in scientific advances and also in the regulatory aspects since cephalopods are the only invertebrates whose use is regulated in Europe in a research context and this increases the need for integrated oversight and direction in terms of ethics and animal welfare e.g. Jacquet et al 2019a 2019b Ponte et al 2019 This Research Topic also aligns with the interests of the cephalopod community in stimulating public interest in cephalopods extending to a broader audience that could include chefs and gourmets and fishers and scientists aiming to develop sustainable food resources CephInAction Towards Future Challenges for Cephalopod Science Research Topic includes 14 papers from about 40 authors representing ten different countries thus overlapping with the original parties that contributed to the COST FA1301 that together with CephRes promoted and supported this editorial initiative

Guide to Reprints Albert James Diaz, 2008 The Nation, 1927 Treatise on Style Aragon, 1991-01-01 Surprising juxtapositions like goats spread across pianos and fearful optical illusions like eyeballs being sliced characterized the surrealistic movement in the arts in 1928 when Louis Aragon published Trait du Style in Paris Aragon had become ever more contemptuous of vogues and pretensions In the name of surrealism he produced the first significant critique of it Instead of merely upsetting old relationships and skewering sensibilities Trait du Style was meant to shock with a capital S and it did Only now has it been completely translated into English Although time has attenuated the scandalous nature of Aragon's language his criticism has lost none of its edge in this translation by Alyson Waters From the beginning which describes a postcard showing a little boy on a potty as representative of French humor and the French spirit to the end an attack in scatological language on the French military establishment Aragon zeros in on one target after another Nothing escapes his notice or venom whether it is the masturbatory output of contemporary writers the prostitution of culture or the perversions of government Still Treatise on Style is more than a brilliant diatribe directed against what Aragon perceived as the moral political and intellectual failures of his time He proposes surrealism in art as in life as a means to achieve a valid ethical and aesthetic style Surrealism as Aragon defines it here loses some of its mythical and mystical trappings it becomes inspiration with rolled up shirt sleeves He exercises this faculty in his own writing which aims to shake readers out of their complacency by alternating the intensely lyrical with the borderline obscene and juxtaposing the language of the educated elite with that of the street Whether denouncing religious fantacism or dispensing praise Aragon remains true to his idea of the surrealist project to reclassify certain values through the act of writing itself Treatise on Style entertains as a portrait of a movement and of a personality who kept moving Awaiting Oblivion Maurice
