Made In Korea Chung Ju Yung And The Rise Of Hyundai:

Made in Korea Richard M. Steers, 2013-08-21 American business folklore is awash with the adventures of successful entrepreneurs Still most of these stories are about Americans neglecting important and courageous entrepreneurs from other countries Made in Korea recounts the story of how Chung Ju Yung rose from poverty to build one of the world's largest and most successful building empires Hyundai through a combination of creative thinking tenacity timing political skills and a business strategy that few competitors ever understood Chung entered the shipbuilding business with no experience and went on to create the world's largest shipyard He began making automobiles when foreign experts unanimously predicted he would fail and he started a global construction company that has built some of today's greatest architectural wonders He even convinced the International Olympic Committee to select South Korea over Japan as the site for the highly successful 1988 Olympics Unlike most CEO's of major firms Chung has always preferred the company of his workers to that of the global executive elite Hard work creativity and a capacity to never give up this is the essence of Chung's life In each of his ventures he exhibited a sheer determination to succeed regardless of the obstacles and he worked tirelessly to instil this drive in all of his employees Even today in the midst of Korea's worst economic crisis in over four decades Chung's company is busy implementing plans to emerge as an even stronger contender in the world economy Illustrated with 32 pages of colour photographs not previously seen in the West including photos of Chung's recent historic visit to North Korea in 1998 Made in Korea takes stock of Chung's entire life highlighting both his contributions to society and the lessons his work can teach to aspiring entrepreneurs

Korea's Development Under Park Chung Hee Hyung-A Kim, 2004-08-02 Based on personal interviews with the principal policy makers of the 1970s Korea's Development under Park Chung Hee examines how the president sought to develop South Korea into an independent autonomous sovereign state both economically and militarily Kim provides a new narrative in the complex task of exploring the paradoxical nature and effects of Korea's rapid development which maintains that any judgement of Park must consider his achievements in the socio economic cultural and political context in which they took place Aspects of Park's government analyzed include his abhorrence of Korea's reliance on the US presence the Korean model of state guided industrialization Park's rapid development strategy the role of the ruling elites Park's clandestine nuclear development program the heavy chemical industrialisation of the 1970s The prevailing popularity of Park in the eyes of the Korean public is significant and relevant to their acceptance of how their national development was achieved This book tells that story while simultaneously recognizing the flaws in the process With a great deal of material never before published scholars of Korean politics and history at all levels will find this book a stimulating account of South Korea in the 1960s and 1970s

The Evolution of Tiger Management Martin Hemmert, 2017-10-19 Throughout the last several decades Korean companies have become strong global competitors in a wide range of manufacturing industries How did they achieve this exceptional performance The Evolution of Tiger Management uncovers the secret of their success through a comprehensive analysis of Korean style management. It explains how it has developed, why it works so well, what non-Koreans can learn from it, and what Korean companies need to do to stay competitive in the future. This book is an extended and significantly updated new edition of Tiger Management: Korean companies on world markets (Routledge, 2012). It tells the remarkable stories of how Korean firms seemingly coming from nowhere have successfully challenged their Western and Japanese competitors globally. A new chapter highlights the rise of Korean venture firms and start-ups. Next, the essence of Tiger Management is analyzed by showing that it consists of an effective combination of business strategy, leadership, and human resource management practices. Finally, the evolution and future of Tiger Management is discussed by showing how Korean companies have adapted to changes at home and abroad, and how non-Korean companies can adopt Tiger Management. A new final chapter discusses the way forward for Korean companies.

Rogue Regime Jasper Becker, 2005-05. An eye-opening look at North Korea, a brutal Stalinist country that has become one of the most volatile hot spots in the world.

America's Other Automakers Timothy J. Minchin, 2021-04. In 2018, almost half of all vehicles made in North America were produced at foreign-owned plants, and the sector was on track to monopolize the market. Despite this, the industry has been overlooked compared with its domestic counterpart, both in scholarship and popular memory. America's Other Automakers provides a new history of the foreign-owned auto sector, the first to extensively draw on archival sources and to articulate the human agency of participants, including workers, managers, and industry recruiters. Timothy J. Minchin challenges the view that the industry's growth primarily reflected incentives, stressing human agency and the complexity of individual stories. Instead, deeply human in its approach, the book also explores the industry's impact on grassroots communities, showing that it had more costs than supporters acknowledged. Drawing on a wide range of primary and secondary sources, America's Other Automakers uncovers significant tensions over unionization, reports of discriminatory hiring, and unease about the industry's rapid growth, critically exploring seven large assembly facilities and their impact on the communities in which they were built.

Management Martin Hemmert,2012-10-02 Throughout the last several decades Korean companies have entered the world

The Leap of the Tiger Reda Cherif,Fuad Hasanov,2015-06-23 Only a few European economies and Korea and Taiwan Province of China reached high income status during 1970 2010 Malaysia s real income per capita increased to 26 percent of the U S level in 2010 from 20 percent in 1970 Despite relatively strong growth and a substantial improvement in export sophistication Malaysia s total factor productivity lagged behind that of Korea and Taiwan Province of China We argue that what characterizes their experience in contrast to Malaysia s is the creation of technologies by domestic firms and a push to leapfrog to the technological frontier at an early stage of development

Global Expectations for Korean Unification Kyuryoon Kim et al.,2014-12-31 The current research aims to provide analytical understandings on the costs and benefits of Korean unification from political social and economic aspects Upon the two years of earlier works we constructed an analytical model encompassing both spatial and temporal dimensions of the unification process and built comprehensive architecture the Guiding Type of Unification Based on this model we have broaden the scope of the research by collecting diverse perspectives from the worldwide experts of the leading countries We expect to observe the global trends of world governance Indeed the increasing importance of Group of Twenty G 20 countries in managing global problems reflects both political and social aspects of the changes occurring in global governance Another reason for this would be South Korea s diversified international relations in the recent years Hence it seems necessary to take a closer look on the international dimensions of Korean unification In this vein we requested thirteen experts of the leading countries to express their opinions on Korean unification In order to collect international perspectives in a coordinated manner scholars were provided with a guideline to include their perspectives on the expected effects of Korean Unification and the potential roles of their countries during and after the process. Participants were also asked to present candid implications for Korean unification. Argentina, whose food supply is abundant, laid stress on providing assistance in terms of food security during the unification. Australia, who has special concerns in Asian security, suggested a comprehensive support not only as a mediator but also as one of the U.S. alliance. Due to remote distance to Asia, Brazil is relatively less affected by the unification. Brazil, however, expressed that it has a keen interest in transmission of its experience regarding nuclear issues with Argentina. Similar to Brazil's stance, the effects of the unification influence is indirect to Canada. Nevertheless, Canada could play a role in providing humanitarian assistance and could be a potential destination for North Korean refugee resettlement. France, one of the most influential members in the European Union and the United Nations, made a suggestion to promote institution building in East Asia that can promote stability in the region. Germany, the only country who had experienced unification, presented its interest in participating actively in the process of Korean unification through public and private sectors. India assumed that the unification of Korea leads to the denuclearization of the peninsula and would see this as a positive sign for stability of the region since it would limit or end North Korea's nuclear weapon transmits with Pakistan. Indonesia could contribute to regional peace and stability through ASEAN and its extensions as South Korea can call upon Indonesia to engage in the peace process. Italy, who especially pointed out the role of European Union as a whole, is well poised to contribute to economic and social development with North Korea through technical assistance. Mexico can and expressed its willingness to play an active role in the unification process through international organizations. South Africa, who had been successful in national reconciliation and denuclearization, is very likely to provide its experience and can be a strong voice for the NPT and arms control in the international society. Advocating South Korea's policy in Korean unification, Turkey explicitly mentioned that it will side with Seoul if there is a possible conflict in the peninsula. The author emphasized that the international community must be well informed on how Korean unification will take place. Last but not least, the United Kingdom author suggested that Koreans will have to resolve emotional conflicts for reconciliation. Considering how both Koreas have dealt educational matters concerning the division of the peninsula, this may face a major challenge in the future generation. Thirteen countries diversely manifested positions on the unifying process, are indicative of perceptual change that the issue of Korean unification is no longer a regional issue but an international one in which multiple actors have their own stakes within. Upon the previously suggested implications, we categorized the countries into three groups: bystanders, supporters, and interveners. This categorization reflects the assertiveness of each country or coercive level of each country's assistance instrumented towards the two Koreas during the unifying process. In the conclusion, based on our final analysis, we provided recommendations for the policy makers. First, diversified diplomacy creates an amicable international environment for unification policies beyond the power politics of the Four Powers. Second, activation of leading countries' roles is strategically advantageous to activate the meaningful roles of these leading countries to minimize the Four Powers concerns Third emphasizing the formation of multilateral system would provide leading countries with an additional motivation to actively participate in the unification process Furthermore multilateral efforts to achieve Korean unification are also expected to contribute to the furtherance of democratic elements in the dynamics of international relations as a whole Fourth it is now high time for us to conduct more public diplomacy by devising new and creative methodologies The global research project of this kind could be one of the most effective public diplomatic tools Lastly the unification between two Koreas can no longer be considered as a regional issue within Northeast Asia since others including the leading countries conceive their national interests along the process of unification on the Korean peninsula in diverse ways Overall thirteen countries recommendations underline the significance of collective efforts in addressing the unification process and suggest South Korea to learn lessons from the experience that they have undergone in the past

Financial Crisis and Transformation of Korean Business Groups Sea-Jin Chang, 2003-04-28 Sea Jin Chang argues that the Korean financial crisis of 1997 was due to the inertia of both the business groups known as chaebols and the Korean government which prevented adaptation to changing external environments Once the Korean government stopped central economic planning and pursued economic liberalization in the 1980s the transition created a void under which neither the government nor markets could monitor chaebols investment activities The intricate web of cross shareholding debt guarantees and vertical integration resulted in extensive cross subsidization and kept chaebols from shedding unprofitable businesses The government's continued interventions in banks lending practices created moral hazards for both chaebols and banks This treatment demonstrates how the structure of chaebols later inhibited other adaptations and for all practical purposes became nearly dysfunctional The book argues that restructuring of chaebols should focus on improving corporate governance systems After such restructuring the author predicts chaebols will re emerge as stronger more focused global players

Crisis and Restructuring in East Asia S. Jeong, 2004-07-20 This book criticizes the widespread view that the 1997 Asian crisis was due to crony capitalism and puts the blame instead on misguided liberalization It analyzes the case of Korea's business conglomerates the chaebol with particular attention to the car industry to show how liberalization contributed to the crisis even at the level of the firm It shows how those firms that had developed innovative capabilities survived the crisis much better than those that had merely expanded into markets opened up by liberalization Catching Up Vladislav L. Inozemtsev,2011-12-31 Disparities between the economic development of nations have widened throughout the twentieth century and they show no sign of closing In the nineteenth century the economic potential of developed countries was three times that of the rest of the world Today the gap is twenty times greater and the trend is increasing In this provocative reexamination of theories of accelerated development or catching up Vladislav L Inozemtsev traces the evolution of thinking about how countries lagging behind can most swiftly move forward and assesses their prospects for success in this effort Inozemtsev reviews the experience of the Soviet Union as well as the recent experience of Japan China and Southeast Asia He finds that those countries that have moved forward most rapidly have successfully adapted new technology to old processes But even then they face daunting odds as they grapple with the need to change their population s ideas and behavior And in the 1990s their rates of development have noticeably declined Catching Up assesses prospects for successful application of theories of accelerated development in the global economy Inozemtsev s pessimistic conclusion is that rapid industrial progress is not achievable in the information society of the twenty first century Inozemtsev reaches this conclusion after reviewing theories of accelerated development thinking from the diverse viewpoints of the 1940s and 1950s to the more intensive ideological polarization of the 1960s Inozemtsev believes it will be impossible for non Western nations to catch up with the West because of their inability to generate or control information and knowledge Management Across Cultures Richard M.
