French post structuralist scholarship and is widely recommended on humanities courses across a variety of disciplines Foucault's analysis of psychology is a devastating critique of the common understanding of insanity The Routledge History of Madness and Mental Health Greg Eghigian, 2017-04-07 This volume explores the history and historiography of madness from the ancient and medieval worlds to the present day Covering Africa Asia and South America as well as Europe and North America chapters discuss broad topics such as the representation of madness in literature and the visual arts the material culture of madness madness within life histories and the increased globalization of knowledge and treatment practices Chronologically and geographically wide ranging and providing a fascinating overview of the current state of the field this is essential reading for all students of the history of madness mental health psychiatry and medicine The Open Boundary of History and Fiction Suzanne Gearhart, 2019-02-19 Challenging the view that a critical sense of history is missing from the Enlightenment Suzanne Gearhart links the works of Voltaire Montesquieu Diderot and Rousseau with the inquiry into the boundary between literature and history in contemporary critical discourse She considers the theories of Levi Strauss Foucault Althusser Genette White de Man and Derrida in order to develop a critical approach to fiction and history and to reveal that investigations into the foundations of historical knowledge and specifically into what distinguishes history from fiction were central to the Enlightenment This book questions many assumptions basic to contemporary criticism by establishing a dialogue between major theorists and Enlightenment figures It challenges certitudes of fiction and literature by examining the historicity of language form and literature itself redefining history to show its crucial relevance to literary studies and opening historiography to the insights of literary theory Suzanne Gearhart is Associate Professor of Literature at the University of California San Diego Originally published in 1984 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Sensation Novels and Domestic Minds

Mathilde Vialard, 2024-02-26 Drawing on the recent academic interest in approaching health and wellbeing from a humanities perspective Sensation Novels and Domestic Minds investigates how the Victorians dealt with questions of mental health by examining literary works in the genre of sensation fiction The novels of Mary Elizabeth Braddon and Wilkie Collins two prominent writers of the genre often portray characters suffering from mental illnesses commonly diagnosed at the time among which are monomania moral insanity melancholia and hypochondria By studying the fictional works of Braddon and Collins alongside medical texts from the nineteenth century it sets out to investigate how these novels fictionally represented real mental sufferings This book considers the different mental illnesses the characters of sensation novels develop inside and outside the home as they struggle to define their own identity against Victorian social expectations It demonstrates how these novels fictionalised the crisis of the leisured upper classes who spent most of their time at home and found themselves at odds with a society that increasingly separated the domestic and working environments while also considering the impact that a lack of a sense of domestic belonging could have on their mental health Sensation Novels and Domestic Minds further analyses the extent to which domesticity in its excess or lack could afflict the mental health of Victorian men and women through the fictional representation of suicidal thoughts and acts in the novels of Braddon and Collins
