

Maggie's story

Maggie was oscillating between both the loss orientated (LO) process and the restoration orientated (RO) process within the dual process model.

She explains how it's worse now at 4 months as the shock has worn off, and she mentions 'everyone expects her to get on with it', she is getting on, she takes the kids to school, keeps the house going, she's sorted out probate and the pension. She is currently in the RO as she is attending to life changes, but she soon oscillates to the (LO) process. She goes on to mention she tries to keep herself busy of an evening, otherwise she will miss her husband, this is an intrusion of grief within the (LO) process.

She mentions she had to sign 'widow' on a form, and she felt hurt, this was another intrusion of grief, but she was also in the (RO) process as she was using her new identity.

She mentions she went to the cinema with a friend, had a lovely time and really laughed so was in the (RO) process, but she felt guilty for having a good time. So she had dipped back into the (LO) process.

She also mentions how they always used to go to a club with a group of friends, and how they have invited her, but she says how they all have partners and she would stick out like a sore thumb. She is in the (LO) process here as she is allowing intrusion of grief and avoiding restoration.

She said about how angry she feels at times, and how she hates her self at times. She ends this with 'I'm horrible aren't I?' its as if she seeks clarification from the person she is talking too. She does this on several occasions, 'of course you have to go on for the children, don't you?', 'stupid isn't it?'. 'but you cant, can you?'. This is not only confusion as Maggie suddenly has had her whole world turned upside down. She's suddenly now alone, new identity, new job roles etc, all part of the grieving process I believe. It makes her question herself, everything she does, her actions etc?

Summary of Maggie Smith's You Could Make This Place Beautiful Milkyway Media, 2024-01-29 Get the Summary of Maggie Smith's You Could Make This Place Beautiful in 20 minutes Please note This is a summary not the original book Maggie Smith's memoir You Could Make This Place Beautiful is a poignant exploration of her life marriage and the aftermath of divorce The narrative begins with Maggie's husband returning from a trip with a pinecone for their son symbolizing the family's love for nature treasures Their life in a periwinkle house filled with wedding dishes and memories is disrupted when Maggie discovers her husband's affair through a postcard Nineteenth-Century British Literature Then and Now Simon Dentith, 2016-05-06 Envisioning today's readers as poised between an impossible attempt to read texts as their original readers experienced them and an awareness of our own temporal moment Simon Dentith complicates traditional prejudices against hindsight to approach issues of interpretation and historicity in nineteenth century literature Suggesting that the characteristic aesthetic attitude encouraged by the backward look is one of irony rather than remorse or regret he examines works by Charles Dickens George Eliot Anthony Trollope William Morris and John Ruskin in terms of their participation in significant histories that extend to this day Liberalism class gender political representation and notions of progress utopianism and ecological concern as currently understood can be traced back to the nineteenth century Just as today's critics strive to respect the authenticity of nineteenth century writers and readers who responded to these ideas within their historical world so too do those nineteenth century imaginings persist to challenge the assumptions of the present It is therefore possible Dentith argues to conceive of the act of reading historical literature with an awareness of the historical context and of the difference between the past and the present while allowing that friction or difference to be part of how we think about a text and how it communicates His book summons us to consider how words travel to the reality of the reader's own time and how engagement with nineteenth century writers anticipation of the judgements of future generations reveal hindsight's capacity to transform our understanding of the past in the light of subsequent knowledge Spirit of the Land Conrad Heisner, 2008-12 Land ownership is exciting but being a part of the land claimed by the land opens a bond to all the people of the land From ancient people to modern people land has fashioned an identity and bond between people who share common problems troubles joys and celebrations It is as though people become connected through the ages Our own stories are what tell about the connected lore Lore is personal but never private Telling the lore sharing the lore creates and is created by spirits mingling stories into a common humanity Lore is humorous lore is heartbreaking serious and silly but lore of identity is the backbone of culture It is why we laugh together and why we cry together My stories are not much different than the stories of all time In this book some of the Spirits of the Land do their speaking through what I remember through what I have learned about events and through imagination Childhood memories significant times in life historical understandings these are the body of lore ready to be woven into our spirit as people As I sought to understand all of this I was guided by a powerful voice It was a mystical voice a driving voice I came to know the voice of the spirit world as a physical body a face I could see hear and talk to in a small pool of water The face and the voice came at her own will and sometimes overtook my will The face and voice left my view when it willed me to act on my own strengths But the voice of the face is never gone The spirit is never gone It is the Spirit of the Land The Location of Experience Adela Pinch, 2024-10-15 We tend to feel that works of fiction give us special access to lived experience But how do novels cultivate that feeling Where exactly does experience reside The Location of Experience argues that paradoxically novels create experience for us not by bringing reality up close but by engineering environments in which we feel constrained from acting By excavating the history of the rise of experience as an important category of Victorian intellectual life this book reveals how experience was surprisingly tied to emotions of remorse and regret for some of the era s great women novelists the Bront s George Eliot Margaret Oliphant and Elizabeth Gaskell It shows how these writers passed ideas about experience and experiences themselves among each other Drawing on intellectual history psychology and moral philosophy The Location of Experience shows that through manipulating the psychological dimensions of fiction s formal features Victorian women novelists produced a philosophical account of experience that rivaled and complemented that of the male philosophers of the period
