Medieval Islamic Maps Karen C. Pinto, 2016-11-01

Hundreds of exceptional cartographic images are scattered throughout medieval and early modern Arabic Persian and Turkish manuscript collections. The plethora of copies created around the Islamic world over the course of eight centuries testifies to the enduring importance of these medieval visions for the Muslim cartographic imagination. With Medieval Islamic Maps, historian Karen C. Pinto brings us the first in-depth exploration of medieval Islamic cartography from the mid-tenth to the nineteenth century. Pinto focuses on the distinct tradition of maps known collectively as the Book of Roads and Kingdoms (Kitab al-Masalik wa al-Mamalik or KMMS), examining them from three distinct angles: iconography, context, and patronage. She untangles the history of the KMMS maps, traces their inception and evolution, and analyzes them to reveal the identities of their creators, painters, and patrons, as well as the vivid realities of the social and physical world they depicted. In doing so, Pinto develops innovative techniques for approaching the visual record of Islamic history, explores how medieval Muslims perceived themselves and their world, and brings Middle Eastern maps into the forefront of the study of the history of cartography.

A Companion to Venetian History, 1400-1797, 2013-07-11 The field of Venetian studies has experienced a significant expansion in recent years, and the Companion to Venetian History 1400-1797 provides a single-volume overview of the most recent developments. It is organized thematically and covers a range of topics including political culture, economy, religion, gender, art, literature, music, and the environment. Each chapter provides a broad but comprehensive historical and historiographical overview of the current state and future directions of research. The Companion to Venetian History 1400-1797 represents a new point of reference for the next generation of students of early modern Venetian studies, as well as more broadly for scholars working on all aspects of the early modern world. Martin Waldseemüller's 'Carta marina' of 1516 Chet Van Duzer, 2019-10-09 This open access book presents the first detailed study of one of the most important masterpieces of Renaissance cartography: Martin Waldseemüller's Carta marina of 1516. By transcribing, translating into English, and detailing the sources of all of the descriptive texts on the map, as well as the sources of many of the images, the book makes the map available to scholars in a wholly unprecedented way In addition the book provides revealing insights into how Waldseemüller went about making the map information that can't be found in any other source The Carta marina is the result of Waldseemüller's radical re-evaluation of what a world map should be he essentially started from scratch when he created it rejecting the Ptolemaic model and other sources he had used in creating his 1507 map and added more descriptive texts and a wealth of illustrations Given its content the book offers an essential reference work not only on this map but also for anyone working in sixteenth century European cartography Geographical Knowledge and Imperial Culture in the Early Modern Ottoman Empire Asst Prof Pinar Emiralioğlu, 2014-03-28 Exploring the reasons for a flurry of geographical works in the Ottoman Empire in the sixteenth century this study analyzes how cartographers travellers astrologers historians and naval captains promoted their vision of the world and the centrality of the Ottoman Empire in it It proposes a new case study for the interconnections among empires in the period demonstrating how the Ottoman Empire shared political cultural economic and even religious conceptual frameworks with contemporary and previous world empires Copyright in the Renaissance: Prints and the Privilegio in Sixteenth-Century Venice and Rome Christopher Witcombe, 2004-06-01 This study examines the emergence and early history of copyright in Venice and Rome focusing in particular on the privilegio and the use made of it by printers publishers engravers painters architects mapmakers and others in the sixteenth century to protect their commercial interests in various types of printed images These include separately sold engravings woodcuts and etchings as well as illustrations in books The first part of the book surveys printmaking and the privilegio in sixteenth century Venice and Rome together with the related issues of licensing and censorship The second part documents many of the recipients who were granted the privilegio The book introduces the reader to the richly competitive world of printmaking and print publishing in Renaissance Italy The Venetian Discovery of America Elizabeth Horodowich, 2018-09-06 Few Renaissance Venetians saw the New World with their own eyes As the print capital of early modern Europe however Venice developed a unique relationship to the Americas Venetian editors mapmakers translators writers and cosmographers represented the New World at times as a place that the city's mariners had discovered before the Spanish a world linked to Marco Polo's China or another version of Venice especially in the case of Tenochtitlan Elizabeth Horodowich explores these various and distinctive modes of imagining the New World including Venetian rhetorics of firstness similitude othering comparison and simultaneity generated through forms of textual and visual pastiche that linked the wider world to the Venetian lagoon These wide ranging stances allowed Venetians to argue for their different but equivalent participation in the Age of Encounters Whereas historians have traditionally focused on the Spanish conquest and colonization of the New World and the Dutch and English mapping of it they have ignored the wide circulation of Venetian Americana Horodowich demonstrates how with their printed texts and maps Venetian newsmongers embraced a fertile tension between the distant and the close In doing so they played a crucial yet heretofore unrecognized role in the invention of America Ships on

Maps Richard W. Unger, 2010-08-04 Renaissance map makers produced ever more accurate descriptions of geography which were also beautiful works of art They filled the oceans Europeans were exploring with ships and to describe the real ships which were the newest and best products of technology Above all the ships were there to show the European conquest of the seas of the world The Mapmakers' Quest David Buisseret, 2003-05-22 In 1400 Europe was behind large parts of the world in its understanding of the use of maps For instance the people of China and of Japan were considerably more advanced in this respect And yet by 1600 the Europeans had come to use maps for a huge variety of tasks and were far ahead of the rest of the world in their appreciation of the power and use of cartography The Mapmakers Quest seeks to understand this development not only to tease out the strands of thought and practice which led to the use of maps but also to assess the ways in which such use affected European societies and economies Taking as a starting point the question of why there were so few maps in Europe in 1400 and so many by 1650 the book explores the reasons for this and its implications for European history It examines inter al how mapping and military technology advanced in tandem how modern states territories were mapped and borders drawn up the role of maps in shaping the urban environment and cartography's links to the new sciences Antique Map Price Record & Handbook for ... Jon K. Rosenthal, 1994 Frames that Speak: Cartouches on Early Modern Maps Chet Van Duzer, 2023-05-25 Listen to the New Books Network Podcast This lavishly illustrated book is the first systematic exploration of cartographic cartouches the decorated frames that surround the title or other text or imagery on historic maps It addresses the history of their development the sources cartographers used in creating them and the political economic historical and philosophical messages their symbols convey Cartouches are the most visually appealing parts of maps and also spaces where the cartographer uses decoration to express his or her interests so they are key to interpreting maps The book discusses thirty three cartouches in detail which range from 1569 to 1821 and were chosen for the richness of their imagery The book will open your eyes to a new way of looking at maps Understanding Comparative Politics Lisa A.
