On Listening To Holocaust Survivors Recounting And Life History:

On Listening to Holocaust Survivors Henry Greenspan, 1998-09-30 How do Holocaust survivors find words and voice for their memories of terror and loss This landmark book presents striking new insights into the process of recounting the Holocaust While other studies have been based typically on single interviews with survivors this work summarizes twenty years of the author's interviews and reinterviews with the same core group In this book therefore survivors recounting is approached not as one time testimony but as an ongoing deepening conversation Listening to survivors so intensively we hear much that we have not heard before We learn for example how survivors perceive us their listeners and the impact of listeners on what survivors do in fact retell We meet the survivors themselves as distinct individuals each with his or her specific style and voice As we directly follow their efforts to recount we see how Holocaust memories challenge their words even now burdening survivors speech distorting it and sometimes fully consuming it It is not a story insisted one survivor about his memories It has to be made a story On Listening to Holocaust Survivors shows us both the ways survivors can make stories for the not story they remember and just as important the ways they are not able to do so

The Holocaust Donald Bloxham, Tony Kushner, Antony Robin Jeremy Kushner, 2005-07-15 Despite the massive literature on the Holocaust our understanding of it has traditionally been influenced by rather unsophisticated early perspectives and silence This book summarizes and criticizes the existing scholarship on the subject and suggests new ways by which we can approach its study It addresses the use of victim testimony and asks important questions What function does recording the past serve for the victim What do historians want from it Are these two perspectives incompatible It also examines the perpetrators of the Holocaust and compares them to those responsible for other acts of genocide and ethnic cleansing in the early years of the twentieth century In addition it looks at the bystanders examining the complexity and ambiguity at the heart of contemporary reaction

Biography Between Structure and Agency Volker Berghahn, Simone Lässig, 2008-09-01 While bookstore shelves around the world have never ceased to display best selling life and letters biographies in prominent positions the genre became less popular among academic historians during the Cold War decades Their main concern then was with political and socioeconomic structures institutions and organizations or more recently with the daily lives of ordinary people and small communities The contributors to this volume all well known senior historians offer self critical reflections on problems they encountered when writing biographies themselves Some of them also deal with topics specific to Central Europe such as the challenges of writing about the lives of both victims and perpetrators Although the volume concentrates on European historiography its strong methodological and conceptual focus will be of great interest to non European historians wrestling with the old structure versus agency question in their own work Contributors Volker R Berghahn Hartmut Berghoff Hilary Earl Jan Eckel Willem Frijhoff Ian Kershaw Simone Lässig Karl Heinrich Pohl John C G Rhl Angelika Schaser Joachim Radkau Cornelia Rauh K hne Mark Roseman Christoph Strupp and Michael Wildt
