The First Mariners Robert G. Bednarik, 2015-02-24 This volume summarizes the history and findings of the First Mariners Project which the author Robert G Bednarik commenced in 1996 in order to explore the Ice Age origins of seafaring This is the largest archaeological replication project ever undertaken with several hundred people involved in the construction of eight primitive vessels with stone tools under scientifically controlled conditions six of them sailing Four bamboo rafts have succeeded in accomplishing the historically documented crossings they sought to replicate One of the successful experiments a 1000 kilometer journey to Australia in 1998 attempted to recreate the first human arrival in Australia probably around 60 000 years ago Other voyages attempted to address the much earlier sea crossings documented to have taken place in the islands of Indonesia the earliest of which may have occurred nearly a million years ago These experiments have also featured in BBC and National Geographic documentaries The First Mariners comprehensively describes the archaeological background and relevant issues of the project and features an extensive pictorial record of both the experiments and the archaeological basis of this research giving a unique experience to readers interested in understanding the earliest marine adventurers from a historical and technical perspective

Interdisciplinary Approaches to the Oldowan Erella Hovers,David R. Braun,2009-03-08 An understanding of the uniquely human behavior of stone tool making tackles questions about hominins ability to culturally transmit and expand their base of social and practical knowledge and their cognitive capacities for advanced planning The appearance of stone tools has often been viewed as a threshold event impacting directly and profoundly the later course of cultural and social evolution

Alternatively it has been understood as a prelude to significant succeeding changes in behavioral social and biological evolution of hominins This book presents a series of recent enquiries into the technological and adaptive significance of Oldowan stone tools While anchored in a long research tradition these studies rely on recent discoveries and innovative analyses of the archaeological record of ca 2 6 1 0 million years ago in Africa and Eurasia dealing with the earliest lithic industries as manifestations of hominin adaptations and as expressions of hominin cognitive abilities The Asturian of
