This time away from literary pursuits enriched Franklin's literary productivity and provided a feminist social justice ethics which shaped her writing. Close readings of Franklin's mostly unpublished short stories, plays and novels contextualise them in the personal politics of her everyday life and historicise them in the socio-economic and literary realities of early twentieth-century Australia and United States themes embedded in broader cultural patterns of socialism, pacifism and feminism.

The Quarterly Review (London), 1845 The American Philatelist, 1917 The Postage Stamp Frederick John Melville, 1913 Lucia's Marriage; or, the Lions of Wady-Araba: a story of the Idumæan Desert. [By John Mason Neale.] John Mason Neale, 1860 British West Indian Newspapers and the Abolition of Slavery Andrew Lewis, 2024-06-07 This book is the first overall survey of the British West Indian press in the early nineteenth century, a critical period in the history of the region. Based on extensive and ground-breaking archival research, this volume provides an in-depth history of early nineteenth-century British West Indian newspapers and potted biographies of the journalists who produced them. The author examines the economics underpinning newspapers and a political spectrum unique to the West Indian press is also posited. Towards one end sat a small group of liberal newspapers that outraged white colonists by arguing for civil and political rights to be extended to so-called free coloureds and for the abolition of slavery; scattered at various points towards the other end of the spectrum were newspapers still best collectively described as the planter press, the traditional term used in the literature. Starting from this basic conceptual framework, the volume shows how the press landscape in the British Caribbean at this time was more volatile and complex than has been previously thought. This volume will be of value to academics, undergraduates and postgraduates studying Caribbean and media history and those interested in modern history.
