Mackintosh Architecture Charles Rennie Mackintosh, 1984      Charles Rennie Mackintosh John McKean, 2000 Traces the life and work of Charles Rennie Mackintosh Scotland's renowned architect and designer      Glasgow School of Art James Macaulay, Charles Rennie Mackintosh, 1993 One of the works of great Arts and Crafts architecture the School is a creative synthesis of opposites austere and delicate dark and light derivative yet innovative While the towering outer wall seems to echo the Scottish baronial tradition and the exterior impression is one of imposing grandeur the interior is a lively and complex set of spaces      C. R. Mackintosh David Brett, 1992 A persuasive reappraisal of the work of Charles Rennie Mackintosh whose buildings and interiors in and around Glasgow Scotland established him as one of the great figures of early 20th century architecture and design David Brett argues that Mackintosh's originality was grounded in a highly subjective poetics of workmanship in which the structure features interiors and furnishings of each building became subject to a unifying system of forms metaphors and unconscious associations      The Architects' Architect Murray Grigor, Charles Rennie Mackintosh, Richard Murphy, 1993      Mackintosh Architecture Charles Rennie Mackintosh, Jackie Cooper, David Dunster, Barbara Bernard, 1984-12-01      Charles Rennie Mackintosh James Steele, Charles Rennie Mackintosh, 1994 Insightful analysis into Mackintosh's architecture with many previously unpublished views of his most important buildings prints jewelry and even new buildings His most important project was the Glasgow School of Art which still functions as a highly prestigious art school This glorious building is visited each year by thousands of tourists from around the world Built over a dozen years beginning in 1897 the Glasgow School of Art is Mackintosh s greatest and most influential legacy This completely redesigned and heavily illustrated edition of Mackintosh s Masterwork has been greatly expanded and contains newly discovered material about both the early life of the architect and the formative years in which his plans for the School of Art were executed

C. R. Mackintosh David Brett,2004-04-02 Between 1896 and 1906 Charles Rennie Mackintosh 1868 1928 produced a series of buildings and interiors in and around Glasgow of such startling invention that he immediately established himself as one of the truly great figures in early twentieth century architecture and design David Brett argues that Mackintosh s originality was grounded in a highly subjective poetics of workmanship in which the structure features interiors and furnishings of each individual building became subject to a unifying system of forms metaphors and unconscious associations The system Mackintosh evolved allowing for the formulation of an almost infinite series of ensembles After focusing on the various decorative details and interior spaces of Mackintosh s buildings the author reaches to the heart of Mackintosh s poetic system the suffused eroticism of the sleek feminine and intensely private white interiors A notable feature of this persuasive reappraisal of Mackintosh s work is the wealth of photographs by the author showing rarely featured details of buildings interiors and furnishings

Charles Rennie Mackintosh and the Art of the Four Roger Billcliffe,2017-10-26 The Glasgow Style is the name given to the work of a group of young designers and architects working in Glasgow from 1890 1914 At its centre were four young friends who had trained at Glasgow School of Art two architects and two artists Charles Rennie Mackintosh Herbert MacNair Margaret Macdonald and Frances Macdonald who were simply known by their friends and contemporaries as The Four Their work was a personal vision in the new international style of the 1890s Art Nouveau and is perhaps best known for Mackintosh s architecture and furniture But at the root of this new style was a graphic language which all four shared Charles Rennie Mackintosh and the Art of The Four presents the most coherent story to date of this important group concentrating on the entirety of their artistic imagery and output far beyond the best known work of the 1890s and charting the constantly changing relationships between the artists and their work

Makers of Modern Architecture Martin Filler,2007-07-17 Everyone knows what modern architecture looks like but few understand how this revolutionary new form of building emerged little more than a century ago or what its aesthetic social even spiritual aspirations were Through illuminating studies of the leading men and women who forever changed our built environment veteran architecture critic Martin Filler offers fresh insights into this unprecedented cultural transformation From Louis Sullivan father of the skyscraper to Frank Gehry magician of post millennial museum Filler emphasizes how their force of personality has had a decisive effect on everything from how we inhabit our homes to how we shape our cities Why was the sudden shift in architectural fashion that wrecked the career of the Scottish designer Charles Rennie Mackintosh not enough to destroy the indomitable spirit of Frank Lloyd Wright who rose from adversity to become America's greatest architect Why was Philip Johnson dean of American architecture during the 1980s so haunted by the superior talent of this less fortunate contemporary Louis Kahn that he could barely utter his name even at the peak of his own success How did Ludwig Mies van der Rohe's dictum Less is more give way to Robert Venturi's Less is a bore Surveying such current urban design sagas as the reconstruction of Ground Zero and the reunification of Berlin Filler also trains his sharp eye on some of the biggest names in architecture today puncturing more than one overinflated reputation while identifying the true masters who are now building for the ages

The Quest for Charles Rennie Mackintosh John Cairney, 2020-05-28 Like Charles Rennie Mackintosh John Cairney began his career at the age of 15 at the Glasgow School of Art He tells of the working life of Charles Rennie Mackintosh as well as the beautiful love story which tragically ended with Mackintosh's sudden death at the age of 60. His wife and co-artist Margaret Macdonald died three years later. The Progressive Architecture Of Frederick G. Scheibler, Jr Martin Aurand, 1994-04-15. Frederick G. Scheibler Jr 1872-1958 was the rare turn-of-the-century American architect who looked to progressive movements such as Art Nouveau and Arts and Crafts for inspiration rather than conventional styles. His fresh house designs and plans for apartment buildings and multifamily group cottages feature dramatic massing, rich detailing, and a wide variety of materials. Scheibler envisioned each building as a work of art integrating architecture and ornamentation. Prized today, his best works are scattered throughout Pittsburgh's East End and eastern suburbs. This richly illustrated volume, the first comprehensive study of Scheibler, includes 125 historic and contemporary photographs and drawings, a catalogue raisonné of all of his known projects (including many not recorded in any other published source), a list of books in his library, and a selected bibliography.
