Madagascar Philip M. Allen, 2019-04-02 The world's fourth largest island with a unique biological and physical endowment Madagascar is home to an extraordinary insular civilization that has struggled for more than a century against external domination In this sensitive introduction to the Indian Ocean's great island Philip Allen shows how family affinities and community loyalties at the foundation of Madagascar's culture have influenced Malagasy nationalism and forged islandwide traditions These same principles have nonetheless engendered social cleavages and resistance to economic and political change In chapters on modern Madagascar Allen analyzes the inability of a series of regimes to maintain authority among a people deeply bound to rituals of communication with their spiritual environment He demonstrates how the first Malagasy Republic became stigmatized by its lingering identification with French colonialism and how the nationalist revolution in 1972 soon hardened into autocratic radicalism Allen explores the complex challenges facing Madagascar's resurgent democratic forces including a need to conserve the island's irreplaceable biodiversity and to facilitate authentic participation in public affairs without offending ancestral customs and local precedents Finally he discusses efforts to end Madagascar's economic and political dependence and to improve living conditions for its tragically impoverished population The CIA World Factbook

China in the Indian Ocean Region—India's Security Challenges (Reprint, 2024) Sidda Goud,2023-03-21 Indian Ocean third largest Ocean in the world surpasses the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans Being world's most populated Region one third of the world's bulk cargo and two thirds of world's oil ship tankers passes through the Indian Ocean China's interests in the Indian Ocean Region can be traced and backed by early 60's Ever since Beijing has been increasingly deepening its presence in the Indian Ocean Region for a variety of reasons such as oil trade and security etc Over 30 per cent of China's seaborne trade worth about 300 billion transits across Indian Ocean Region Sharing a quarter of the world's population China facing ever increasing demand for energy China has little choice but to look beyond its borders for its energy requirements Around 77 percent of its oil imports are sourced from West Asia and Africa and these are transporting through the Indian Ocean via Malacca Strait Thus China's dependency on Indian Ocean Region continues to grow for energy imports from gulf and to import resources from Africa and trade with Europe With China steadily spreading its footprints in the IOR with increasing military presence and with rapidly growing its navy being equipped with warships destroyers and nuclear submarines through a strategy called String of Pearls which can encircle India in its convenient time in the near future So China has been emerging as biggest threat for India by analyzing its actions in the Indian Ocean Region and along with India China border from Easter Ladakh to Arunachal Pradesh as stand off continues since June 2020

Current Topics in Phylogenetics and Phylogeography of Terrestrial and Aquatic Systems Kesara

Anamthawat-Jónsson,2012-03-07 Mapping phylogenetics on geographical scales is one of the most important scientific aspects of bioscience research Changes in the environment have evidently shaped the geographical distribution of organisms on land and in the oceans seen today Overexploitation of key species has caused not only changes in the distribution and diversity of organisms and composition of the ecosystems but is also leading to species extinction at accelerating rates It is our duty as scientists to find ways of protecting the species endangered with extinction and preventing other species from entering the endangered stage To manage this effectively we need to map species distribution understand life history traits define genetic variation within species and populations identify lineages especially at the molecular level and correlate the historical phylogenetic components with the spatial distributions of gene lineages In this book phylogenetics and phylogeography of a diverse range of organisms are reviewed from microorganisms causing gastroenteritis in humans fishes in the Southwest Atlantic Ocean and spiders of the western Indian Ocean to mountain tapirs in South America and birch tree species of the Arctic tundra Plant Resources of Tropical Africa (PROTA) Dominique Louppe,2008
