Japans Budget Black Hole Keiko Shimono,2021-01-18 This book describes the astonishing policy failures of populist politicians in Japan Focussing on popular tax cuts in Japan as a salutary case study the book details their serious side effects government debt cuts to social security expenditure inadequate public services and even the potential for a national default

The book argues that the only way to maintain a tolerable level of social services is to increase taxation because a government burdened by massive debt levels is unable to respond adequately to a serious threat such as Covid 19 The book then examines the role of the workforce to economic growth Due to the dominance of conservative political forces over a long period workers protections in Japan are limited and deregulation of the workforce has led to a decline in wages since 1997 Declining wages and a reduction in social security expenditure have inevitably led to lower consumption and lower economic growth This examination leads to the conclusion that the way forward is to restore taxation to a sustainable level which is necessary in order to reduce government debt to increase expenditure on social security education and other essential services and to combat growing inequality Only by redistributing income to those who need it and will spend it consumption will increase and the economy will grow

Is the Ratio of Investment between Research and Development to Production in Major Defense Acquisition Programs Experiencing Fundamental Change? Rhys McCormick, Gregory Sanders, Andrew P. Hunter, 2021-06-17 With the advent of the information age both commercial industry and the Department of Defense are moving towards complex R D intensive systems over the simpler mass produced systems of the industrial age This CSIS report analyzes the historical trends in the relationship of production costs to development costs in complex acquisition programs To understand this phenomenon the study team examines it at two different levels The first is the macro investment level where portfolio management trade offs are made between aggregate development and procurement and between programs The second level is individual programs where the ambitions of the program and the underlying technology shape the resources required for a program to complete development
