Parliament: House of Commons: Communities and Local Government Committee, 2011-11-03 The Government set out its new approach to regeneration in Regeneration to enable growth What Government is doing in support of community led regeneration DCLG But the document gives the Committee little confidence that the Government has a clear strategy for addressing the country's regeneration needs It lacks strategic direction and is unclear about the nature of the problem it is trying to solve It focuses overwhelmingly upon the achievement of economic growth giving little emphasis to the specific issues faced by deprived communities and areas of market failure The proposed measures are unlikely to bring in sufficient resources Funding for regeneration has been reduced dramatically and disproportionately over the past two years and unless alternative sources can be found there is a risk of problems being stored up for the future Also lacking is a strategy for attracting private sector investment And the document gives too much prominence to changes to the planning system and does not acknowledge the benefits effective planning has brought to regeneration The financial and economic climate has impacted dramatically upon regeneration but the withdrawal of Housing Market Renewal Funding in particular has created significant problems leaving many residents trapped in half abandoned streets The Committee suggests a number of measures that could as part of a wider approach contribute to stimulating regeneration and incentivising private sector involvement The Government should now produce a national regeneration strategy which sets out a coherent approach to tackling deprivation and market failure in the country s most disadvantaged areas

Planning for Small Town Change Neil Powe, Trevor Hart, 2017-02-17 Change is inevitable in all communities they both grow and decline Planning is a means by which we have sought to manage this change It has not always succeeded in providing the types of settlements and environments which many residents and others want either because it is operating with the wrong policies or because it is failing to ensure that the right policies are effectively implemented These failings have opened planning to criticism by a dominant neoliberal orthodoxy which shapes an increasingly difficult environment in which planning has to operate Planning for Small Town Change builds on an underexploited selection of international research and the authors English case studies to consider the efficacy of planning for change Drawing on insightful small town experiences three themes emerge understanding and conceptualising change appreciating the potential within place and the mechanisms for planning and delivery The research draws on many examples of how key actors have made a significant difference to specific places and provides important insights into how the planning process can be better matched to the long term and complex challenges faced Whilst small town experiences are often neglected they are found to be particularly insightful in understanding the potential roles of local communities and the importance of place quality when planning for change
