Retrospect Story Of Analysis:

Henry James's Style of Retrospect Oliver Herford, 2016 Henry James's Style of Retrospect examines the last twenty five years in the writing life of Henry James 1843-1916 one of the most important novelists of the nineteenth century It addresses a significantly under appreciated dimension of James's late life output not his fiction but rather the substantial body of retrospective and commemorative non fiction the late personal writings of the title which he began to produce in the 1890s and which came to assume a leading role in the last phase of his career It addresses these works from a literary critical viewpoint analysing the way James's style changed in response to the conditions imposed on him but also the opportunities revealed to him by the project of writing about the real past the book's main contribution is to develop a cumulative analysis of his style in the period 1890-1915 It also has a biographical aspect however and tells a story of his professional and emotional life in these years that particularly emphasises his investment in historical and personal continuity his sense of the duties of commemoration and his interest in the experiences of ageing and remembering Retrospective June

Yap, 2017-08-15 Developed as an exploratory study of artworks by artists of Singapore and Malaysia Retrospective attempts to account for contemporary artworks that engage with history These are artworks that reference past events or narratives of the nation and its art Through the examination of a selection of artworks produced between 1990 and 2012 Retrospective is both an attribution and an analysis of a historiographical aesthetic within contemporary art practice It considers that by their method and in their assembly these artworks perform more than a representation of a historical past Instead they confront history and its production laying bare the nature and designs of the historical project via their aesthetic project Positing an interdisciplinary approach as necessary for understanding the historiographical as aesthetic Retrospective considers not only historical and aesthetic perspectives but also the philosophical by way of ontology in order to broaden its exposition beyond the convention of historical and contextual interpretation of art Yet in associating these artworks with a historiographical aesthetic this exposition may be regarded as a historiographical exercise in itself affirming the significance of these artworks for the history of Singapore and Malaysia In short which history rarely is Retrospective is about the art of historicisation and the historicisation of art Cinema Aesthetics: Retrospective of Satyajit Ray, Ritwik Ghatak and Mrinal Sen

Analysing Health Communication Gavin Brookes, Daniel Hunt, 2021-05-19 This edited book showcases original research in the study of healthcare and health communication while also providing a detailed overview of contemporary methods of discourse analysis Discourse approaches remain under represented in the field of health communication despite their potential for affording detailed understanding of health related text and talk across an array of contexts for example in face to face and digital healthcare encounters health promotion and patients accounts of illness experiences This book aims to address this gap in the literature by offering the first book length treatment of different approaches to discourse analysis in health care and illness contexts and it will appeal both to linguists and to researchers in nursing and health sciences sociology and anthropology

Data-Based Radiation Oncology - Design of Clinical Trials Kerstin A. Kessel, Anne W. Lee, Søren M. Bentzen, Bhadrasain Vikram, Fridtjof Nuesslin, Stephanie E. Combs, 2018-04-12 In radiation oncology as in many other specialties clinical trials are essential to investigate new therapy approaches Usually preparation for a prospective clinical trial is extremely time consuming until ethics approval is obtained To test a new treatment usually many years pass before it can be implemented in the routine care During that time already new interventions emerge new drugs appear on the market technical physical innovations are being implemented novel biology driven concepts are translated into clinical approaches while we are still investigating the ones from years ago Another problem is associated with molecular diagnostics and the growing amount of tumor specific biomarkers which allows for a better stratification of patient subgroups On the other side this may result in a much longer time for patient recruiting and consequently in larger multicenter trials Moreover all of the relevant data must be readily available for treatment decision making treatment as well as follow up and ultimately for trial evaluation This challenges even more for agreed standards in data acquisition quality and management How could we change the way currently clinical trials are performed in a way they are safe and ethically justifiable and speed up the initiation process so we can provide new and better treatments faster for our patients Further while we rely on various quantitative information handling distributed large heterogeneous amounts of data efficiently is very important Thus data management becomes a strong focus A good infrastructure helps to plan tailor and conduct clinical trials in a way they are easy and quickly analyzable In this research topic we want to discuss new ideas for intelligent trial designs and concepts for data management

The Retrospective Imagination of A. B. Yehoshua Yael Halevi-Wise, 2020-12-15 Once referred to by the New York Times as the Israeli Faulkner A B Yehoshua's fiction invites an assessment of Israel's Jewish inheritance and the moral and political options that the country currently faces in the Middle East The Retrospective Imagination of A B Yehoshua is an insightful overview of the fiction nonfiction and hundreds of critical responses to the work of Israel's leading novelist Instead of an exhaustive chronological biographical account of Yehoshua's artistic growth Yael Halevi Wise calls for a systematic appreciation of the author's major themes and compositional patterns Specifically she argues for reading Yehoshua's novels as reflections on the condition of Israel constructed multifocally to engage four intersecting levels of signification psychological sociological historical and historiosophic Each of the book's seven chapters employs a different interpretive method to showcase how Yehoshua's constructions of character psychology social relations national history and historiosophic allusions to traditional Jewish symbols manifest themselves across his novels The book ends with a playful dialogue in the style of Yehoshua's masterpiece Mr Mani that interrogates his definition of Jewish identity Masterfully written with full control of all the relevant materials Halevi Wise's assessment of Yehoshua will appeal to students and scholars of modern Jewish literature and Jewish studies Handbook of Narrative Analysis Luc Herman, Bart Vervaeck, 2019-12-01 Stories are everywhere from fiction across media to politics and personal identity Handbook of Narrative Analysis sorts out both traditional and recent narrative theories providing the necessary skills to interpret any story In addition to discussing classical theorists such as Gérard Genette, Mieke Bal and Seymour Chatman Handbook of Narrative Analysis presents precursors such as E. M. Forster related theorists Franz Stanzel Dorrit Cohn and a large variety of postclassical critics Among the latter particular attention is paid to rhetorical, cognitive and cultural approaches, intermediality, storyworlds, gender theory and natural and unnatural narratology Not content to consider theory as an end in itself Luc Herman and Bart Vervaeck use two short stories and a graphic narrative by contemporary authors as touchstones to illustrate each approach to narrative In doing so they illuminate the practical implications of theoretical preferences and the ideological leanings underlying them Marginal glosses guide the reader through discussions of theoretical issues and an extensive bibliography points readers to the most current publications in the field Written in an accessible style this handbook combines a comprehensive treatment of its subject with a user friendly format appropriate for specialists and nonspecialists alike Handbook of Narrative Analysis is the go to book for understanding and interpreting narrative This new edition revises and extends the first edition to describe and apply the last fifteen years of cutting edge scholarship in the field of narrative theory

Organizational Change and Innovation Processes Marshall Scott Poole, Andrew H. Van de Ven, Kevin Dooley, Michael E. Holmes, 2000-11-16 In a world of organizations that are in constant change scholars have long sought to understand and explain how they change This book introduces research methods that are specifically designed to support the development and evaluation of organizational process theories The authors are a group of highly regarded experts who have been doing collaborative research on change and development for many years Real-Time and Retrospective Analyses of Cyber Security Bird, David Anthony, 2020-09-04 Society is continually transforming into a digitally powered reality due to the increased dependence of computing technologies The landscape of cyber threats is constantly evolving because of this as hackers are finding improved methods of accessing essential data Analyzing the historical evolution of cyberattacks can assist practitioners in predicting what future threats could be on the horizon Real Time and Retrospective Analyses of Cyber Security is a pivotal reference source that provides vital research on studying the development of cybersecurity practices through historical and sociological analyses While highlighting topics such as zero trust networks geopolitical analysis and cyber warfare this publication explores the evolution of cyber threats as well as improving security methods and their socio technological impact This book is ideally designed for researchers policymakers strategists officials developers educators sociologists and students seeking current research on the evolution of cybersecurity methods through historical analysis and future trends Embodied Performance Sarah Agnew, 2020-09-22 Embodied Performance presents a methodology by which performer interpreters can bring their intuitive interpretations to the scholarly conversations about biblical compositions. It may not be comfortable for scholarship is out of practice in listening to emotion and intuition. It may not be the only way to bring the fullness of human meaning making into scholarly discussions. It is a beginning as Sarah Agnew, storyteller and scholar, places herself as the subject and object under examination, observing her practice as a biblical storyteller making meaning through embodied performance and develops a coherent method rigorously tested with an Embodied Performance Analysis of Romans. Follow Sarah's story as she searches within Biblical Performance Criticism for such a method before determining the need to strike out in a new direction from within an already innovative field. All biblical scholars are complex human beings making meaning through their embodiment, their emotions, their embeddedness in community. Embodied Performance Analysis offers a way to attend to and incorporate the full range of human meaning making in our engagement with biblical compositions for richer discussion closer to the intent of the compositions themselves.

Story Logic David Herman, 2004-01-01. Featuring a major synthesis and critique of interdisciplinary narrative theory, Story Logic marks a watershed moment in the study of narrative. David Herman argues that narrative is simultaneously a cognitive style, a discourse genre, and a resource for writing. Because stories are strategies that help humans make sense of their world, narratives not only have a logic but also are a logic in their own right, providing an irreplaceable resource for structuring and comprehending experience. Story Logic brings together and pointedly examines key concepts of narrative in literary criticism, linguistics, and cognitive science, supplementing them with a battery of additional concepts that enable many different kinds of narratives to be analyzed and understood. By thoroughly tracing and synthesizing the development of different strands of narrative theory and provocatively critiquing what narratives are and how they work, Story Logic provides a powerful interpretive tool kit that broadens the applicability of narrative theory to more complex forms of stories, however and wherever they appear. Story Logic offers a fresh and incisive way to appreciate more fully the power and significance of narratives.

A Philosophical Retrospective Alan Montefiore, 2011-03-14. As a young lecturer in philosophy and the eldest son of a prominent Jewish family, Alan Montefiore faced two very different understandings of his identity: the more traditional view that an identity such as his carried with it as a matter of given fact certain duties and obligations, and an opposing view emphasized by his studies in philosophy according to which there can be no rationally compelling move from statements of fact, whatever the alleged facts may be, to judgments of value. According to this second view, individuals must in the end take responsibility for determining their own values and obligations. In this book, Montefiore looks back on his attempts to understand the nature of this conflict and the misunderstandings it may engender. In the process, he illustrates through personal experience the practical implications of a characteristically philosophical issue. Montefiore finally settles on the following: while everyone has to accept that facts, including those of their own situation, are whatever they may be, both the traditional assumption that individuals must recognize certain values and obligations as rooted in those very facts and the contrary view that individuals are ultimately responsible for determining their own values are deeply embedded in differing conceptions of society and its relation to its members Montefiore then examines the misunderstandings between those for whom identity constitutes in effect a conceptual bridge connecting the facts of who and what a person may be to the value commitments incumbent upon them and those for whom the very idea of such a bridge can be nothing but a confusion Using key examples from the notoriously vexed case of Jewish identity and from his own encounters with its conflicting meanings and implications Montefiore depicts the practical significance of the differences between these worldviews particularly for those who have to negotiate them

The Narratological Analysis of Lyric Poetry Peter Hühn, Jens Kiefer, 2005 This study offers a fresh approach to the theory and practice of poetry criticism from a narratological perspective Arguing that lyric poems share basic constituents of narration with prose fiction namely temporal sequentiality of events and verbal mediation the authors propose the transgeneric application of narratology to the poetic genre with the aim of utilizing the sophisticated framework of narratological categories for a more precise and complex modeling of the poetic text On this basis the study provides a new impetus to the neglected field of poetic theory as well as to methodology The practical value of such an approach is then demonstrated by detailed model analyses of canonical English poems from all major periods between the 16th and the 20th centuries The comparative discussion of these analyses draws general conclusions about the specifics of narrative structures in lyric poetry in contrast to prose fiction
