Rose And Lotus Narrative Of Desire In France And China:

Rose and Lotus Tonglin Lu,1991-01-22      Rose and Lotus Tonglin Lu,1991-01-22 Compares the narrative expression of sexual sublimation and perversion in two 18th century French novels with that in two classical Chinese novels The works Julie ou la nouvelle Heloise and Les Liaisons dangereuses and The Golden lotus and Dream of the red chamber were chosen to illustrate a period before significant culture intercourse between the two countries and because their status as major literary works has raised them above the particular context of their origin Also available in paper unseen 14 95 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR      Desire and Fictional Narrative in Late Imperial China Martin W.

Huang,2020-03-23 In this new study of desire in Late Imperial China Martin Huang argues that the development of traditional Chinese fiction as a narrative genre was closely related to changes in conceptions of the fundamental nature of desire He further suggests that the rise of vernacular fiction during the late Ming dynasty should be studied in the context of contemporary debates on desire along with the new and complex views that emerged from those debates Desire and Fictional Narrative in Late Imperial China shows that the obsession of authors with individual desire is an essential quality that defines traditional Chinese fiction as a narrative genre Thus the maturation of the genre can best be appreciated in terms of its increasingly sophisticated exploration of the phenomenon of desire      China Exchange News ,1990      The

Culture of Love in China and Europe Paolo Santangelo,Gábor Boros,2020-01-13 In The Culture of Love in China and Europe Paolo Santangelo and G bor Boros offer a survey of the cults of love developed in the history of ideas and literary production in China and Europe between the 12th and early 19th century They describe parallel evolutions within the two cultures and how innovatively these independent civilisations developed their own categories and myths to explain exalt but also control the emotions of love and their behavioural expressions The analyses contain rich materials for comparison point out the universal and specific elements in each culture and hint at differences and resemblances without ignoring the peculiar beauty and attractive force of the texts cultivating love      Shan'ge, the 'Mountain Songs' Yasushi OKI,Paolo

Santangelo,2011-02-17 Mountain Songs is a collection of folk songs edited by the famous writer Feng Menglong 1574 1646 By this innovative work mainly written in the Suzhou dialect he aimed to revitalize poetry through the power of popular songs This collection is very significant to the understanding of the characters of the mobile society of Jiangnan and the vitality of its intellectual world The songs deal with the lives of common people women often prostitutes boatmen peasants hunters fishers and paddlers Their spirit is far from the orthodox moral intents that Zhu Xi advocated for interpreting the Shijing and their language is often vulgar and full of crude expressions or salacious double meanings and contains allusions to sexual and erotic behaviour      Beyond the May Fourth Paradigm Kai-wing Chow,Tze-ki Hon,Hung-yok Ip,Don C.

Price,2008-04-18 When did China make the decisive turn from tradition to modernity For decades the received wisdom would have pointed to the May Fourth movement with its titanic battles between the champions of iconoclasm and the traditionalists and its shift to more populist forms of politics. A growing body of recent research has however called into question how decisive the turn was when it happened and what relation the resulting modernity bore to the agendas of people who might have considered themselves representatives of such an iconoclastic movement. Having thus explicitly or implicitly decentered the May Fourth, such research augmented by contributions in the present volume leaves us with the task of accounting for the shape Chinese modernity took as the product of dialogues and debates between and the interplay of a variety of actors and trends both within and certainly no less importantly without the May Fourth camp.

Rereading the Stone Anthony C. Yu, 2018-06-05 The eighteenth century Hongloumeng known in English as Dream of the Red Chamber or The Story of the Stone is generally considered to be the greatest of Chinese novels, one that masterfully blends realism and romance, psychological motivation and fate, daily life and mythical occurrences as it narrates the decline of a powerful Chinese family. In this path-breaking study, Anthony Yu goes beyond the customary view of Hongloumeng as a vivid reflection of late imperial Chinese culture by examining the novel as a story about fictive representation. Through a maze of literary devices, the novel challenges the authority of history as well as referential biases in reading. At the heart of Hongloumeng, Yu argues, is the narration of desire. Desire appears in this tale as the defining trait and problem of human beings and at the same time shapes the novel's literary invention and effect. According to Yu, this focalizing treatment of desire may well be Hongloumeng's most distinctive accomplishment. Through close readings of selected episodes, Yu analyzes principal motifs of the narrative such as dream, mirror, literature, religious enlightenment, and rhetorical reflexivity in relation to fictive representation. He contextualizes his discussions with a comprehensive genealogy of qing desire, disposition, sentiment, feeling, a concept of fundamental importance in historical Chinese culture, and shows how the text ingeniously exploits its multiple meanings. Spanning a wide range of comparative literary sources, Yu creates a new conceptual framework in which to reevaluate this masterpiece.

Area Bibliography of China Richard T. Wang, 1997 A combination of scholarly, commercial, and popular interests has generated a large quantity of literature on every aspect of Chinese life during the past two decades. This bibliography reflects these combined interests; it is broken up into sections by subject headings and cross references refer the researcher to related topics.

The Age of Silver Ning Ma, 2017 The Age of Silver considers how commerce fueled the emergence of the novel around the globe, examining the evolution of epochal works of national literature from Don Quixote in 1605 to Robinson Crusoe in 1719.

Licentious Worlds Julie Peakman, 2019-10-15 Licentious Worlds is a history of sexual attitudes and behavior through five hundred years of empire building around the world. In a graphic and sometimes unsettling account, Julie Peakman examines colonization and the imperial experience of women as well as marginalized men, showing how women were not only involved in the building of empires but how they were also almost invariably exploited. Women acted as negotiators, brothel keepers, traders, and peace keepers, but they were also forced into marriages and raped. The book describes women in Turkish harems, Mughal zenanas, and Japanese geisha houses as well as in royal palaces and private households and onboard ships Their stories are drawn from many sources from captains logs missionary reports and cannibals memoirs to travelers letters traders accounts and reports on prostitutes From debauched clerics and hog bugging Pilgrims to sexually confused cannibals and sodomizing samurai Licentious Worlds takes history into its darkest corners

Fictions of Enlightenment Qiancheng Li,2003-12-31 Fictions of Enlightenment is the first book to examine the fascinating and intricate relationship between Buddhism and the development of Chinese vernacular fiction Qiancheng Li brings Buddhist models to bear on the vision structure and narrative form of three classics of late imperial literature Journey to the West Tower of Myriad Mirrors and Dream of the Red Chamber arguing that by fashioning their plots after the narratives of certain Mah y na sutras the novelists transformed Buddhist concepts into narrative structures Within the traditional Chinese novel Li even defines a new genre the fiction of enlightenment

Obscene Things Naifei Ding,2002-07-18 In this absorbing study of the multiple lives of a literary classic that is also a popular pornographic text Naifei Ding steals across the border between cultural studies and feminist queer literary criticism Bringing a gendered social history of modern print culture in China into a porous intimacy with both a critique of interpretive power and a feminist counter ethics of reading Obscene Things is a scholarly work of exceptional creativity Ding herself is a wonderful storyteller and her critical narration of the fortunes of Jin Ping Mei will inspire anyone concerned with the how of studying historical modalities of gender sexuality status and cultural power Meaghan Morris Lingnan University

Feminism/Femininity in Chinese Literature, 2016-08-22 The present volume of Critical Studies is a collection of selected essays on the topic of feminism and femininity in Chinese literature Although feminism has been a hot topic in Chinese literary circles in recent years this remarkable collection represents one of the first of its kind to be published in English The essays have been written by well known scholars and feminists including Kang I Sun Chang of Yale University and Li Ziyun a writer and feminist in Shanghai China The essays are inter and multi disciplinary covering several historical periods in poetry and fiction from the Ming Qing periods to the twentieth century In particular the development of women's writing in the New Period post 1976 is examined in depth The articles thus offer the reader a composite and broad perspective of feminism and the treatment of the female in Chinese literature As this remarkable new collection attests the voices of women in China have begun calling out loudly in ways that challenge prevalent views about the Chinese female persona

Misers, Shrews, and Polygamists Keith McMahon, 1995 Having multiple wives was one of the mainstays of male privilege during the Ming and Qing dynasties of late imperial China Based on a comprehensive reading of eighteenth century Chinese novels and a theoretical approach grounded in poststructuralist psychoanalytic and feminist criticism Misers Shrews and Polygamists examines how such privilege functions in these novels and provides the first full account of literary representations of sexuality and gender in pre modern China In many examples of rare erotic fiction and in other works as well known as Dream of the Red Chamber Keith McMahon identifies a sexual economy defined by the figures of the miser and the shrew caricatures of the retentive self containing man and the overflowing male enervating woman Among these and other characters the author explores the issues surrounding the practice of polygamy the logic of its overvaluation of masculinity and the nature of sexuality generally in Chinese society How does the man with many wives manage and justify his sexual authority Why and how might he escape or limit this presumed authority sometimes to the point of portraying himself as abject before the shrewish woman How do women accommodate or coddle the man or else oppose undermine or remold him And in what sense does the man place himself lower than the spiritually and morally superior woman The most extensive English language study of Chinese literature from the eighteenth century this examination of polygamy will interest not only students of Chinese history culture and literature but also all those concerned with histories of gender and sexuality
