Chekhov's writing style is marked by its simplicity and realism, focusing on the mundane aspects of daily life to reveal deeper truths about human nature. The stories in this collection are characterized by Chekhov's keen observation of society and his ability to capture complex emotions in seemingly simple situations. For muzhiks and petty tradespeople he made them all of one size, taking himself as model, and this method never failed him, for though he was seventy years of age there was not a taller or stouter man in the town, not even in the prison. For women and for men of good birth he made his coffins to measure, using for this purpose an iron yardwand. Orders for children's coffins he accepted very unwillingly, made them without measurement as if in contempt, and every time when paid for his work exclaimed: About the Publisher: Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
