Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend Dr Donna Coates, 2023-11-01 War is traditionally considered a male experience By extension the genre of war literature is a male dominated field and the tale of the battlefield remains the privileged and only canonised war story In Australia although women have written extensively about their wartime experiences their voices have been distinctively silenced Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend calls for a re definition of war literature to include the numerous voices of women writers and further recommends a re reading of Australian national literatures with women's war writing foregrounded to break the hold of a male dominated literary tradition and pass on a vital but unexplored women's tradition Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend examines the rich body of World Wars I and II and Vietnam War literature by Australian women providing the critical attention and treatment that they deserve Donna Coates records the reaction of Australian women writers to these conflicts illuminating the complex role of gender in the interpretation of war and in the cultural history of twentieth century Australia By visiting an astonishing number of unfamiliar non canonical texts Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend profoundly alters our understanding of how Australian women writers have interpreted war especially in a nation where the experience of colonising a frontier has spawned enduring myths of identity and statehood
