A Royal Slave as Colonial Criticism in Aphra Behn's "Oroonoko" Alexandra Baum, 2014-12-18 Seminar paper from the year 2014 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 2.7 University of Freiburg Anglistik Amerikanistik language English abstract Aphra Behn's narrative Oroonoko or the Royal Slave was published one year before her death in 1688 at a time when the Atlantic Slave Trade and African Slavery were in full blossom as a result of European Colonialism The story is about the curious case of the gallant prince Oroonoko who got pulled into slavery and was deported to the British colony of Surinam in the 1660s Behn's work combines different genres of texts such as the travel narrative the romance but most importantly social criticism Although Oroonoko is regarded as a literary work by many scholars that has advanced and supported the cause for the abolition of slavery in Britain as well as in its colonies it is in fact a non anti slavery text The author does not touch the pressing issue of slavery as such because she presents us with a rare and exceptional kind of slave Nevertheless the book clearly illustrates through the depiction of its hero the injustice cruelty and arbitrariness of slavery that has been brought upon the African peoples by European Colonialism In this paper I will show Behn's unusual presentation of a royal slave in order to criticize British Colonialism first by giving a brief overview on Transatlantic African slavery that is portrayed in early modern literature second by analyzing the depiction of slaves in Behn's narrative with a special focus on Oroonoko the royal slave and finally by illustrating Behn's necessity for choosing a tragic hero who could have never been protected from the depths of slavery by his royal status

Oroonoko; Or, The Royal Slave Aphra Behn, 2000 Designed to explore Oroonoko's global historical context by placing the work in literary history and through gathering together documents from the three corners of the Atlantic triangle West Africa the Caribbean and Britain

Character symbolisation in the book "Oroonoko or the Royal Slave" by Aphra Behn (1688) Kim Gloria Burk,2020-12-14 Seminar paper from the year 2019 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 1.0 Justus Liebig University Giessen language English abstract The paper asks who are the main characters in Aphra Behn's Oroonoko or the Royal Slave and what are their traits How do they interact with each other and what do they represent As the novel gives little evidence what each of them stands for this term paper will give a detailed analysis about their occurrence appearance introduction and importance during narration In the beginning the focus will be on the role of Oroonoko who gives the novel its name and fails to gain his freedom as a royal slave What makes him different than the other slaves and how is it visually presented An important point to consider is his European behaviour that he has acquired and how he shows it within interactions between other characters Nevertheless his character symbolises much more than these aspects and therefore it is essential to focus on his attitude towards love and religion in order to highlight his individuality and unique nature Furthermore the presence of the narrator within the novel will be analysed in order to see if Aphra Behn creates a narrative that reflects her own impressions during her stay in Surinam or if the story is complete fiction
