physical disfigurement functioned in biblical law to verify legal property acquisition when changes in the status of dependents were formalized It is based on the reality the cuneiform script in particular was developed in Sumer and Mesopotamia for the purpose of record keeping to provide legal proof of ownership where the inscription of a tablet evidenced the sale or transfer of property Legitimate property acquisition was as important in biblical law where physical disfigurements marked dependents in a similar way that the veil or the head covering identified a wife or concubine in ancient Assyrian and Judean societies This is primarily substantiated in the accounts of prescriptive disfigurements namely circumcision and the piercing of a slave's ear both of which were required only when a son or slave was acquired permanently It is further argued that legal entitlement was relevant also to the punitive disfigurements recorded in Exodus 21 22 24 and Deuteronomy 25 11 12 where the physical violation of women was of concern solely as an infringement of male property rights      The Deuteronomistic History and the Name Theology Sandra L. Richter, 2014-05-14 This monograph is a comparative socio linguistic reassessment of the Deuteronomic idiom leshakken shemo sham and its synonymous biblical reflexes in the Deuteronomistic History lashum shemo sham and lihyot shemo sham These particular formulae have long been understood as evidence of the Name Theology the evolution in Israelite religion toward a more abstracted mode of divine presence in the temple Utilizing epigraphic material gathered from Mesopotamian and Levantine contexts this study demonstrates that leshakken shemo sham and lashum shemo sham are loan adaptations of Akkadian shuma shakanu an idiom common to the royal monumental tradition of Mesopotamia The resulting retranslation and reinterpretation of the biblical idiom profoundly impacts the classic formulation of the Name Theology      Women, Crime and Punishment in Ancient Law and Society Elisabeth Meier Tetlow, 2004-12-28 Crime and punishment criminal law and its administration are areas of ancient history that have been explored less than many other aspects of ancient civilizations Throughout history women have been affected by crime both as victims and as offenders Yet in the ancient world customary laws were created by men formal laws were written by men and both were interpreted and enforced by men      Susa and Elam. Archaeological, Philological, Historical and Geographical Perspectives Katrien De Graef, Jan Tavernier, 2012-12-03 In December 2009 an international congress was held at Ghent University in order to investigate exactly 20 years after the 36th RAI Mopotamie et Elam the present state of our knowledge of the Elamite and Susean society from archaeological philological historical and geographical points of view The multidisciplinary character of this congress illustrates the present state of research in the socio economic historical and political developments of the Suso Elamite region from prehistoric times until the great Persian Empire Because of its strategically important location between the Mesopotamian alluvial plain and the Iranian highlands and its particular interest as point of contact between civilizations Susa and Elam were of utmost importance for the history of the ancient Near East in general      Homeland and Exile Gershon Galil, Markham (Mark) Geller, Alan Millard, 2009-10-23 This volume is a scholarly tribute to Bustenay Oded's distinguished career from some of the many contemporaries colleagues and former students who not only admire and keep being inspired by his achievements but who also count him as a friend The title points to the remarkable span of Bustenay Oded's research and research interests Accordingly the Festschrift's thirty original contributions deal with a wide range of topics focusing on the Assyrian Empire as well as on the Hebrew Bible and other cultural contents      Gudea and His Dynasty Sibylle Edzard, Dietz Otto Edzard, 1997-01-01 This volume of RIM focuses on the Second Dynasty of Lagas and concentrates mainly on the inscriptions of Cylinders A and B of the most important king of that dynasty Gudea      The Reign of Adad-nīrārī III Luis Robert Siddall, 2013-07-11 In The Reign of Adad n r r III Luis Siddall examines the evidence and edits new inscriptions from the king's reign to investigate the chronology campaigns imperial administration and royal ideology of the period While historians have typically viewed this period as one of turmoil imperial recession political weakness and decentralisation Siddall shows that Adad n r r s reign marked a period of imperial stability chiefly through changes to the administration However while politically successful the imperial policy affected the king s ideological expression particularly in terms of the description of the campaigns in Adad n r r s inscriptions and his limited use of royal titles Scholars working on the Neo Assyrian period cannot afford to miss Siddall s fresh assessment of the evidence for Adad nirari s reign He offers a re evaluation of several texts but perhaps more importantly he proposes a few methodological innovations that shed new light on the history of Assyria in the 9th century Bill T Arnold Asbury Theological Seminary für Rykle Borger zu seinem 65. Geburtstag am 24. Mai 1994 Stefan Maul, 2023-07-03      Presargonic Period Douglas Frayne, 2008-05-17 The book Presargonic Period 2700-2350 BC provides editions of all known royal inscriptions of kings who ruled in ancient Mesopotamia down to the advent of King Sargon of Akkad. Most of the inscriptions come from the city states of Lagash and Umma; inscriptions from other sites are rather poorly attested. The volume includes a handful of new inscriptions recently uncovered in Iraq. Information on museum numbers, excavation numbers, provenances, dimensions, and lines preserved in the various exemplars are displayed for multi-exemplar texts in an easy-to-read tabular form. Also included in several commentary sections are notes on the find spots of the inscriptions from Lagash and references about various toponyms to be discussed in a forthcoming study of the author on the geography of Lagash and Umma provinces. Indexes of museum numbers, excavation numbers, and concordances of selected publications complete the volume.      Gudea's Temple Building Suter, 2021-12-28 Gudea of Lagash, who ruled at the end of the third millennium B.C., wanted to be remembered as a temple builder. An extensive narrative inscribed on two huge clay cylinders, one of the longest and best preserved Sumerian texts, recounts his construction of the temple of Ningirsu, Lagash's patron deity. More than sixty sculpted limestone fragments belong to several stelae erected in the temples Gudea built and depict their construction. A large number of inscribed and often sculpted artifacts provide additional information on Gudea's activities. This study treats this visual and textual material as a coherent corpus for the first time. It analyses contents, narrative structure, composition, and message. Text and image are compared to elucidate the characteristics of each medium and to arrive at a comprehensive picture of the royal rhetoric of the time. The book includes a catalogue of all artifacts and a translation of selected text passages.      Ancient Mesopotamian Materials and Industries Peter Roger Stuart Moorey, 1999 This is the first systematic attempt to survey in detail the archaeological evidence for the crafts and craftsmanship of the Sumerians, Babylonians, and Assyrians in ancient Mesopotamia covering the period ca. 8000-300 B.C.E. As creators of some of the earliest farming and urban communities known to us, these people were among the first pioneers of many crafts and skills that remain fundamental to modern ways of life. Many of the raw materials for crafts had to be imported from outside the river valley of the Tigris and Euphrates, providing an unusually sensitive indicator of the commercial and cultural contacts of Mesopotamia. In this book, Dr. Moorey reviews briefly the textual evidence and then goes on to examine in detail the material evidence for a wide range of crafts using stones, both common and ornamental, animal products from hippopotamus ivory to ostrich egg shells, ceramics, glazed materials, and glass, metals, and building materials. With a comprehensive bibliography, this will be a key work of reference for archaeologists and those interested in the early history of crafts and technology, as well as for specialist historians of the ancient Near East.
