"Sensations as If -" Herbert A. Roberts, 2002-08 A Repertory Of Subjective Symptoms You Will Be Surprised About Things You Will Find In It Sensations "as If" James William Ward, 1939 Sensations, As If Herbert A. Roberts, 1976-06-01

Berkeley's Idealism Georges Dicker, 2011-06-15 Using the tools of contemporary analytic philosophy Georges Dicker here examines both the destructive and the constructive sides of Berkeley's thought against the background of the mainstream views that he rejected The Mindful Path through Shyness Steve Flowers, 2009-11-01 In The Mindful Path Through Shyness a licensed psychotherapist specializing in the treatment of stress related conditions helps readers cultivate mindfulness to move past shyness and gain social confidence The Oxford Handbook of Philosophy of Perception Mohan Matthen, 2015-07-02 The Oxford Handbook of Philosophy of Perception is a survey by leading philosophical thinkers of contemporary issues and new thinking in philosophy of perception It includes sections on the history of the subject introductions to contemporary issues in the epistemology ontology and aesthetics of perception treatments of the individual sense modalities and of the things we perceive by means of them and a consideration of how perceptual information is integrated and consolidated New analytic tools and applications to other areas of philosophy are discussed in depth Each of the forty five entries is written by a leading expert some collaborating with younger figures each seeks to introduce the reader to a broad range of issues All contain new ideas on the topics covered together they demonstrate the vigour and innovative zeal of a young field The book is accessible to anybody who has an intellectual interest in issues concerning perception Wittgenstein's Philosophy of Mind (Routledge Revivals) Ashok Vohra, 2014-04-08 Philosophers since Descartes have felt themselves compelled to make a choice between mind and body Wittgenstein's Philosophy of Mind first published in 1986 argues that there is no genuine epistemological problem of mind and that the widespread philosophical scepticism with regard to our knowledge of other minds is without foundation Ashok Vohra applies Wittgenstein's method to show that the problem has arisen through a tendency to over philosophise our simple experiences Vohra presents a positive account of Wittgenstein's philosophy of mind arguing that to consider his philosophy entirely destructive is misleading He shows that knowledge of mind is gained through a large complex of intersubjectively identifiable factors such as the linguistic and non linguistic past present and future behaviour of the person concerned He thus justifies the belief on which psychology and psychoanalysis are based that mind is not a mystery to which only the owner has privileged access The Passive Eye Branka Arsić, 2003 The Passive Eye is a revolutionary and historically rich account of Berkeley's theory of vision In this formidable work the author considers the theory of the embodied subject and its passions in light of a highly dynamic conception of infinity Arsić shows the profound affinities between Berkeley and Spinoza and offers a highly textual reading of Berkeley on the concept of an exhausted subjectivity The author begins by following the Renaissance universe of vision particularly the paradoxical elusive nature of mirrors then shows how this conception of vision was translated into the optical devices and in what way the various ways of deception could be conceived Reading Berkeley against the backdrop of competing theories in relation to Leibniz Spinoza Newton Malebranche Hume Locke Molyneux and others this book gives a meticulous historic reconstruction of Berkeley s theory This excellent scholarly work presents Berkeley s theory in a new and radical light The book presented in three parts begins by presenting the conceptions of vision prior to Berkeley s intervention In the second part the author moves through a careful study of Descartes theory of vision to arrive at Berkeley The third part addresses the author s version of Berkeley in which the eye and the image become inseparable due to the collapse of the universe of representation The problem of vision becomes not that of representation but of presentation Through an erudite historic reading of Berkeley s theory and astute comparative assessments the author uncovers Berkeley s place as a contemporary theoretician corresponding with such thinkers as Deleuze Lacan Foucault and Derrida

Exam TerenceR. Anthony,2017-11-01 In this book Neuroanatomy and the Neurologic Exam is an innovative comprehensive thesaurus that surveys terminology from neuroanatomy and the neurologic examination as well as related general terms from neurophysiology neurohistology neuroembryology neuroradiology and neuropathology The author prepared the thesaurus by examining how terms were used in a large sample of recent widely used general textbooks in basic neuroanatomy and clinical neurology These textbooks were written by experts who received their primary professional training in 13 different countries allowing the thesaurus to incorporate synonyms and conflicting definitions that occur as a result of variations in terminology used in other countries The thesaurus contains

In the Eye's Mind R. Steven Turner,2014-07-14 One of the most persistent controversies of modern science has dealt with human visual perception It erupted in Germany during the 1860s as a dispute between physiologists Hermann von Helmholtz Ewald Hering and their schools Well into the twentieth century these groups warred over the origins of our capacity to perceive space over the retinal mechanisms that mediate color sensations and over the role of mind experience and inference in vision Here R Steven Turner explores the impassioned exchanges of those rival schools both to illuminate the clash of theory and to explore the larger role of controversy in the development of science Controversy he suggests is constitutive of scientific change and he uses the Helmholtz Hering dispute to illustrate how polemics and tacit negotiation shape evolving theoretical stances Turner focuses on the arguments and issues of the dispute issues that ranged from the interpretation of color blindness and optical illusions to the therapeutic practices of clinical ophthalmology As well he focuses on the personalities institutions disciplinary structures and methodological commitments that shaped the dispute including the schools rhetorical strategies He explores the incommensurability of the protagonists viewpoints and examines the reception of the theories and the changing fortunes of the schools Finally Turner traces the controversy into the twentieth century where the issues continue to inform the study of vision today Originally published in 1994 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Descartes, Malebranche, and the Crisis of Perception Walter Ott, 2017-04-28 The seventeenth century witnesses the demise of two core doctrines in the theory of perception naïve realism about color sound and other sensible qualities and the empirical theory drawn from Alhacen and Roger Bacon which underwrote it This created a problem for seventeenth century philosophers how is that we use qualities such as color feel and sound to locate objects in the world even though these qualities are not real Ejecting such sensible qualities from the mind independent world at once makes for a cleaner ontology since bodies can now be understood in purely geometrical terms and spawns a variety of fascinating complications for the philosophy of perception If sensible qualities are not part of the mind independent world just what are they and what role if any do they play in our cognitive economy We seemingly have to use color to visually experience objects Do we do so by inferring size shape and motion from color Or is it a purely automatic operation accomplished by divine decree This volume traces the debate over perceptual experience in early modern France covering such figures as Antoine Arnauld Robert Desgabets and Pierre Sylvain Régis alongside their better known countrymen René Descartes and Nicolas Malebranche
