Sense Of Pleasure A Collection Of Stilllife Paintings

Thomas Henry Dyer

Sense Of Pleasure A Collection Of Stilllife Paintings:

The Sense of Pleasure John T. Spike, Maurizio Fagiolo dell'Arco, 2002 This is a visually stunning collection of 71 European still life paintings dating from the 17th and 18th century and expresses the variety abundance nourishment and pleasures nature has to offer

Still Life Norbert Schneider, 2003 How do the objects in a still life reflect the customs ideas and aspirations of the time This is one of the questions which Schneider asks in this book Still lifes chart the history of scientific discoveries and their acceptance as well as the gradual replacement of the mediaeval concept of the world

Still Life Elisha Cohn, 2016 Still Life Suspended Development in the Victorian Novel rethinks the nineteenth century aesthetics of agency through the Victorian novel's fascination with states of reverie trance and sleep These states challenge contemporary scientific and philosophical accounts of the perfectibility of the self which privileged reflective self awareness In dialogue with the field of literature and science studies and affect studies this book shows how Victorian writers used narrative form to respond to the analytical practices and knowledge production of those other disciplines Drawing upon canonical texts by Charlotte Bront George Eliot George Meredith and Thomas Hardy Still Life contends that depictions of non purposive perceptual experience suspend the processes of self cultivation Bildung central to Victorian aesthetics science psychology and political theory as well as most critical accounts of the novel form Departing from the values of individual cultivation and moral revelation associated with the genre these writers offer an affective framework for understanding the subtly non instrumental powers of narrative Victorian novels ostensibly working within the parameters of the Bildungsroman are suspended by moments of still life a decentered lyricism associated with states of diminished consciousness They use this style to narrate what should be unnarratable experiences not dependent on reflective consciousness which express a distinctive ambivalence toward dominant developmental frameworks of individual self culture

Making Sense of Taste Carolyn Korsmeyer, 2014-01-04 Taste perhaps the most intimate of the five senses has traditionally been considered beneath the concern of philosophy too bound to the body too personal and idiosyncratic Yet in addition to providing physical pleasure eating and drinking bear symbolic and aesthetic value in human experience and they continually inspire writers and artists Carolyn Korsmeyer explains how taste came to occupy so low a place in the hierarchy of senses and why it is deserving of greater philosophical respect and attention Korsmeyer begins with the Greek thinkers who classified taste as an inferior bodily sense she then traces the parallels between notions of aesthetic and gustatory taste that were explored in the formation of modern aesthetic theories She presents scientific views of how taste actually works and identifies multiple components of taste experiences Turning to taste's objects food and drink she looks at the different meanings they convey in art and literature as well as in ordinary human life and proposes an approach to the aesthetic value of taste that recognizes the representational and expressive roles of food Korsmeyer's consideration of art encompasses works that employ food in contexts sacred and profane that seek to whet the appetite and to keep it at bay her selection of literary vignettes ranges from narratives of macabre devouring to stories of communities forged by shared eating

On imitative art, with preliminary remarks on beauty, sublimity and taste Thomas Henry Dyer, 1882 Artwork Herbert Francis

Wauthier, Dugald Sutherland MacColl, Randolph Schwabe, 1928 Dwelling Philip Tonner, 2017-08-03 Dwelling Heidegger Archaeology Mortality negotiates the discourses of phenomenology archaeology and palaeoanthropology in order to extend the dwelling perspective an approach in the social sciences particularly associated with Tim Ingold and a number of other thinkers including Chris Tilley Julian Thomas Chris Gosden and Clive Gamble that developed out of an engagement with the thought of Martin Heidegger This unique book deals with Heidegger's philosophy as it has been explored in archaeology and anthropology seeking to expand its cross disciplinary engagement into accounts of early humans and death awareness Tonner reads Heidegger's thought of dwelling in connection to recent developments in the archaeology of mortuary practice amongst our ancestors Agreeing with Heidegger that an awareness of death marks out a distinctive way of being in the world Tonner rejects any relict anthropocentrism in Heidegger's thought and seeks to break down simple divisions between humans and pre humans This book is ideal for readers wishing to cross disciplinary boundaries and to challenge anthropocentric thinking in accounts of human evolution It would be ideal for professional researchers in the fields covered by the book as well as for graduate students and advanced undergraduates

Perspectives on Music, Sound and Musicology II Luísa Correia Castilho, Rui Sampaio Dias, Luzia Rocha, António de Sousa Dias, 2024-10-17 This book gathers a set of peer reviewed works at the intersection between music sound and image research and practice They are based on presentations contributed to the EIMAD Meeting of Research in Music Arts and Design conference held at the Polytechnic University of Castelo Branco Portugal in 2020 and 2022 under the theme Sounding Images Authored by researchers in musicology musical iconography cinema and audiovisuals digital arts composition sound art and data sonification the 21 chapters of this book offer a valuable resource and source of inspiration for professionals researchers and general audiences in these interconnected fields

The Painter's Touch Ewa Lajer-Burcharth, 2018-01-08 A new interpretation of the development of artistic modernity in eighteenth century France What can be gained from considering a painting not only as an image but also a material object How does the painter's own experience of the process of making matter for our understanding of both the painting and its maker The Painter's Touch addresses these questions to offer a radical reinterpretation of three paradigmatic French painters of the eighteenth century In this beautifully illustrated book Ewa Lajer Burcharth provides close readings of the works of François Boucher Jean Sim on Chardin and Jean Honor Fragonard entirely recasting our understanding of these painters practice Using the notion of touch she examines the implications of their strategic investment in materiality and sheds light on the distinct contribution of painting to the culture of the Enlightenment Lajer Burcharth traces how the distinct logic of these painters work the operation of surface in Boucher the deep materiality of Chardin and the dynamic morphological structure in Fragonard contributed to the formation of artistic identity Through the notion of touch she repositions these painters in the artistic culture of their time shifting attention from institutions such as the academy and the Salon to the realms of the market the medium and the body Lajer Burcharth analyzes Boucher s commercial tact Chardin s interiorized craft and Fragonard s materialization of eros Foregrounding the question of experience that of the painters and of the people they represent she shows how painting as a medium contributed to the Enlightenment s discourse on the self in both its individual and social functions By examining what paintings actually say in brushstrokes texture and paint The Painter s Touch transforms our understanding of the role of painting in the emergence of modernity and provides new readings of some of the most important and beloved works of art of the era

change identity and hybridity I loved it Katherine May author of Wintering Per person oranges are the most consumed fruit in the world Across the world no matter how remote or cold or incongruous a climate is oranges will be there What stories could I unravel from the orange s long ribboning peel What new meanings could I find in its variousness as it moves from east to west and from familiar to foreign What begins as a curiosity into the origins of the orange soon becomes a far reaching odyssey of citrus for Katie Goh Katie follows the complicated history of the orange from east to west and west to east from a luxury item of European kings and Chinese emperors to a modest fruit people take for granted This investigation parallels Katie s powerful search into her own heritage Growing up queer in a Chinese Malaysian Irish household in the north of Ireland Katie felt herself at odds with the culture and politics around her As a teenager Katie visits her ancestral home in Longyan China with her family to better understand her roots but doesn t find the easy digestible answers she hoped for In her mid twenties when her grandmother falls ill she ventures again to the land of her ancestors Malaysia where more questions of self and belonging are raised In her travels and reflections she navigates histories that she wants to understand but has never truly felt a part of Like the story of the orange Katie finds that simple and extractable explanations even about a seemingly simple fruit are impossible The story that unfolds is Katie s incredible endeavor to flesh out these contradictions to unpeel the layers of personhood a reflection on identity through the cipher of the orange Along the way the orange becomes so much more than just a fruit it emerges as a symbol a metaphor and a guide Foreign Fruit A Personal History of the Orange is a searching wide ranging seamless weaving of storytelling with research and a meditative deeply moving encounter with the orange and the self

Feeling Things Stephanie Downes, Sally Holloway, Sarah Randles, 2017-12-30 This interdisciplinary essay collection investigates the various interactions of people feelings and things throughout premodern Europe It focuses on the period before mass production when limited literacy often prioritised material methods of communication The subject of materiality has been of increasing significance in recent historical inquiry alongside growing emphasis on the relationships between objects emotions and affect in archaeological and sociological research The historical intersections between materiality and emotions however have remained under theorised particularly with respect to artefacts that have continuing resonance over extended periods of time or across cultural and geographical space Feeling Things addresses the need to develop an appropriate cross disciplinary theoretical framework for the analysis of objects and emotions in European history with special attention to the need to track the shifting emotional valencies of objects from the past to the present and from one place and cultural context to another The collection draws together an international group of historians art historians curators and literary scholars working on a variety of cultural literary visual and material sources Objects considered include books letters prosthetics religious relics shoes stone and textiles Many of these have been preserved in international galleries museums and archives while others have remained in their original locations even as their contexts have changed over time The chapters consider the ways in which emotions such as despair fear grief hope love and wonder become inscribed in and ascribed to these items producing emotional objects of significance and agency Such objects can be harnessed to create affirm or express individual relationships as for example in religious devotion and practice or in the construction of cultural communal and national identities The Selected Writings of William Hazlitt Vol 2 Duncan Wu,Tom Paulin,David Bromwich,Stanley Jones,Roy Park,2020-05-06 William Hazlitt is viewed by many as one of the most distinguished of the non fiction prose writers to emerge from the Romantic period This nine volume edition collects all his major works in complete form Passions for Birds Sean Nixon,2022-05-15 Whether as sources of joy and pleasure to be fed counted and watched as objects of sport to be hunted and killed or as food to be harvested wild birds evoke strong feelings Sean Nixon traces the transformation of these human passions for wild birds from the early twentieth century through the 1970s detailing humans close encounters with wild birds in Britain and the wider North Atlantic world Drawing on a rich range of written sources Passions for Birds reveals how emotional subjective and material attachments to wild birds were forged through a period of pronounced social and cultural change Nixon demonstrates how for all their differences new traditions in birdwatching and conservation field sports and bird harvesting mobilized remarkably similar feelings towards birds Striking similarities also emerged in the material forms that each of these practices used to bring birds closer to people hides and traps nets and ropes and binoculars Wide ranging in scope Passions for Birds sheds new light on the ways in which wild birds helped shape humans throughout the twentieth century as well as how birds themselves became burdened with multiple cultural meanings and social anxieties over time Academy Notes Buffalo Fine Arts Academy,1906
