The Palgrave Handbook of Environmental Restorative Justice Brunilda Pali, Miranda Forsyth, Felicity Tepper, 2022-09-19 This handbook explores the dynamic new field of Environmental Restorative Justice. Authors from diverse disciplines discuss how principles and practices of restorative justice can be used to address the threats and harms facing the environment today. The book covers a wide variety of subjects from theoretical discussions about how to incorporate the voice of future generations, nature and more than human animals and plants in processes of justice and repair, through to detailed descriptions of actual practices of Environmental Restorative Justice. The case studies explored in the volume are situated in a wide range of countries and in the context of varied forms of environmental harm from small local pollution incidents to endemic ongoing issues such as wildlife poaching to cataclysmic environmental catastrophes resulting in cascades of harm to entire ecosystems. Throughout it reveals how the relational and caring character of a restorative ethos can be conducive to finding solutions to problems through sharing stories, listening, healing and holding people and organisations accountable for prevention and repairing of harm. It speaks to scholars in Criminology, Sociology, Law and Environmental Justice and to practitioners, policy makers, think tanks and activists interested in the environment.

How Judges Sentence Geraldine Mackenzie, 2005 How do judges sentence? This question is frequently asked but infrequently explored. What factors are taken into account? How do judges see their role? How do they apply the aims and purposes of sentencing? How are factors such as public opinion taken into account? How Judges Sentence explores these questions through interviews with Queensland judges. The judges explain how they come to their decisions when sentencing, how they view judicial discretion and how they exercise it. The book carefully examines their comments within the legislative and theoretical contexts of sentencing. The analysis yields valuable insights into judicial methodologies, perceptions and attitudes towards the sentencing process. How Judges Sentence provides a major contribution to debates on sentencing.

Big Data, Crime and Social Control Aleš Završnik, 2017-09-20 From predictive policing to self-surveillance to private security, the potential uses of big data in crime control pose serious legal and ethical challenges relating to privacy, discrimination and the presumption of innocence. The book is about the impacts of the use of big data analytics on social and crime control and on fundamental liberties. Drawing on research from Europe and the US, this book identifies the various ways in which law and ethics intersect with the application of big data in social and crime control, considers potential challenges to human rights and democracy and recommends regulatory solutions and best practice. This book focuses on changes in knowledge production and the manifold sites of contemporary surveillance ranging from self-surveillance to corporate and state surveillance. It tackles the implications of big data and predictive algorithmic analytics for social justice, social equality and social power concepts at the very core of crime and social control. This book will be of interest to scholars.
