The last taboo Karin Lesnik-Oberstein, 2013-07-19 This is the first academic book ever written on women and body hair which has been seen until now as too trivial ridiculous or revolting to write about Even feminist writers or researchers on the body have found remarkably little to say about body hair usually ignoring it completely It would appear that the only texts to elaborate on body hair are guides on how to remove it medical texts on hirsutism or fetishistic pornography on hairy women The last taboo also questions how and why any particular issue can become defined as self evidently too silly or too mad to write about Using a wide range of thinking from gender theory queer theory critical and literary theory history art history anthropology and psychology the contributors argue that in fact body hair plays a central role in constructing masculinity and femininity and sexual and cultural identities It is sure to provide many academic researchers with a completely fresh perspective on all of the fields mentioned above

Literary Research and British Postmodernism Bridgit McCafferty, Arianne Hartsell-Gundy, 2015-09-02 Literary Research and British Postmodernism is a guide for scholars that aims to connect the complex relationships between print and multimedia technological advancements and the influence of critical theory that converge in postwar British literature This era is unique in that strict boundaries between fiction nonfiction multimedia and print are not useful Postmodern literature is defined by the breaking down of boundaries as a reaction to modernism and requires an innovative multifaceted approach to research In this guide the authors explore these complex relationships and offer strategies for researching this new period of literature This book takes a holistic approach to postmodern literature that recognizes the way in which digital media film critical theory popular music and more traditional print sources are inextricably linked Through this approach the authors present a broad view of postmodernism that includes a wide variety of British authors writing in the last half of the twentieth century The book's definition of postmodern includes any British literature following World War II that engages issues central to postmodern theory including the social construction of gender sexuality and power the subjectivity of truth technology as a social force intertextuality metafiction post colonial narrative and fantasy This guide aims to aid researchers of postwar British literature by defining best practices for scholars conducting research in a period so broadly varied in the way it defines literature

Victorian Bestseller Karen Bourrier, 2019-06-19 When novelist Dinah Craik 1826-87 died expressions of grief came from Lord Alfred Tennyson Matthew Arnold Robert Browning T H Huxley and James Russell Lowell among others and even Queen Victoria picked up her pen to offer her consolation to the widower Despite Craik's enormous popularity throughout a literary career that spanned forty years she is now all but forgotten Yet in an otherwise respectable life bookended by scandal this was precisely the way that she wanted it Victorian Bestseller is the first book to relate the story of Dinah Craik's remarkable life Combining extensive archival work with theoretical work in disability studies and the professionalization of women's authorship Karen Bourrier engagingly traces the contours of this author's life Craik who wrote extensively about disability in her work was no stranger to it in her personal and professional life marked by experiences of mental and physical disability and the ebb and flow of health Following scholarship in the ethics of care and disability studies the book posits Craik as an interdependent subject placing her within a network of writers publishers editors and artists friends and family members Victorian Bestseller also traces the conditions in the material history of the book that allowed Victorian women writers careers to flourish In doing so the biography connects corporeality gender and the material history of the book to the professionalization of Victorian women's authorship
