The Practice of Islam in America Edward E. Curtis IV, 2019-09-10. An introduction to the ways in which ordinary Muslim Americans practice their faith. Muslims have always been part of the United States, but very little is known about how Muslim Americans practice their religion. How do they pray? What is it like to go on pilgrimage to Mecca? What rituals accompany the birth of a child, a wedding, or the death of a loved one? What holidays do Muslims celebrate, and what charities do they support? How do they learn about the Qur'an? The Practice of Islam in America introduces readers to the way Islam is lived in the United States, offering vivid portraits of Muslim American life: passages, ethical actions, religious holidays, prayer, pilgrimage, and other religious activities. It takes readers into homes, religious congregations, schools, workplaces, cemeteries, restaurants, and all the way to Mecca to understand the diverse religious practices of Muslim Americans. Going beyond a theoretical discussion of what Muslims are supposed to do, this volume focuses on what they actually do. As the volume reveals, their religious practices are shaped by their racial and ethnic identity, their gender, and sexual orientation, and their sectarian identity, among other social factors. Readers gain practical information about Islamic religion while also coming to understand how the day-to-day realities of American life shape Muslim American practice.

Black Mecca Zain Abdullah, 2010-09-30. The changes to U.S. immigration law that were instituted in 1965 have led to an influx of West African immigrants to New York, creating an enclave. Harlem residents now call Little Africa. These immigrants are immediately recognizable as African in their wide-sleeved robes and tasseled hats, but most native-born members of the community are unaware of the crucial role Islam plays in immigrants' lives. Zain Abdullah takes us inside the lives of these new immigrants and shows how they deal with being a double minority in a country where both blacks and Muslims are stigmatized. Dealing with this dual identity, Abdullah discovers, is extraordinarily complex. Some longtime residents embrace these immigrants and see their arrival as an opportunity to reclaim their African heritage, while others see the immigrants as scornful invaders. In turn, African immigrants often take a particularly harsh view of their new neighbors buying into the worst stereotypes about American born blacks being lazy and incorrigible And while there has long been a large Muslim presence in Harlem and residents often see Islam as a force for social good African born Muslims see their Islamic identity disregarded by most of their neighbors Abdullah weaves together the stories of these African Muslims to paint a fascinating portrait of a community's efforts to carve out space for itself in a new country

Women Embracing Islam Karin van Nieuwkerk, 2009-07-21 Many Westerners view Islam as a religion that restricts and subordinates women in both private and public life Yet a surprising number of women in Western Europe and America are converting to Islam What attracts these women to a belief system that is markedly different from both Western Christianity and Western secularism What benefits do they gain by converting and what are the costs How do Western women converts live their new Islamic faith and how does their conversion affect their families and communities How do women converts transmit Islamic values to their children These are some of the questions that Women Embracing Islam seeks to answer In this vanguard study of gender and conversion to Islam leading historians sociologists anthropologists and theologians investigate why non Muslim women in the United States several European countries and South Africa are converting to Islam Drawing on extensive interviews with female converts the authors explore the life experiences that lead Western women to adopt Islam as well as the appeal that various forms of Islam as well as the Nation of Islam have for women The authors find that while no single set of factors can explain why Western women are embracing Islamic faith traditions some common motivations emerge These include an attraction to Islam's high regard for family and community its strict moral and ethical standards and the rationality and spirituality of its theology as well as a disillusionment with Christianity and with the unrestrained sexuality of so much of Western culture
