

The background of the cover is a photograph of a natural landscape. In the foreground, there is a dead, bleached tree with many thin, branching limbs. The ground is covered with low-lying vegetation, including patches of red and yellow plants. In the background, a large, rounded hill or mountain rises under a blue sky with scattered white clouds.

Natural History Of The Flinders Ranges:

Natural History of the Flinders Ranges Margaret Davies, C. R. Twidale, Michael J. Tyler, 1996 The Natural History Of The Flinders Ranges CR Twidale and MJ Tyler Edited by M Davies, 1969 Australian Mammal Society, 1982-05-10 Bibliography of Natural History Travel Narratives Anne S. Troelstra, 2017-06-01 Anne Troelstra's fine bibliography is an outstanding and ground breaking work. He has provided the academic world with a long needed bibliographical record of human endeavour in the field of the natural sciences. The travel narratives listed here encompass all aspects of the natural world in every part of the globe but are especially concerned with its fauna, flora and fossil remains. Such eyewitness accounts have always fascinated their readers but they were never written solely for entertainment. Fragmentary though they often are, these narratives of travel and exploration are of immense importance for our scientific understanding of life on earth, providing us with a window on an ever changing and often vanishing natural world. Without such records of the past we could not track, document or understand the significance of changes that are so important for the study of zoogeography. With this book Troelstra gives us a superb overview of natural history travel narratives. The well over four thousand detailed entries ranging over four centuries and all major western European languages are drawn from a wide range of sources and include both printed books and periodical contributions. While no subject bibliography by a single author can attain absolute completeness, Troelstra's work is comprehensive to a truly remarkable degree. The entries are arranged alphabetically by author and chronologically by the year of first publication under the author's name. A brief biography with the scope and range of their work is given for each author; every title is set in context, the contents including illustrations are described, and all known editions and translations are cited. In addition, there is a geographical index that cross-refers between authors and the regions visited, and a full list of the bibliographical and biographical sources used in compiling the bibliography. The Annals and Magazine of Natural History, 1926 Australian Caves and Karst Systems John Webb, Susan White, Garry K. Smith, 2023-08-31. This book, part of the series Cave and Karst Systems of the World, begins with a review of the interaction between people and caves in Australia, including conservation, followed by descriptions of the spectacular cave diving sites, before comprehensively covering all the major carbonate and noncarbonate karst areas, subdivided by rock type and region, and including the origin of the caves. This is followed by broad overviews of cave minerals and speleothems, cave biology, and cave fossils. Each section was written by one or more specialists in the topic and is illustrated by clear diagrams and superb colour photos. The book emphasises the unique aspects of the Australian karst, including the variability in the age of the caves, very old to very young, and the impact of isolation on the stygofauna, as well as the vertebrate fossils preserved in the caves. Written in an easy-to-read style, the book is a primary reference guide to Australian karst and represents a valuable asset for anyone interested in the topic, not only cavers and academics.
