Ewa Płonowska Ziarek, 2012-10-23 Ewa Ziarek fully articulates a feminist aesthetics focusing on the struggle for freedom in women s literary and political modernism and the devastating impact of racist violence and sexism She examines the contradiction between women s transformative literary and political practices and the oppressive realities of racist violence and sexism and she situates these tensions within the entrenched opposition between revolt and melancholia in studies of modernity and within the friction between material injuries and experimental aesthetic forms Ziarek s political and aesthetic investigations concern the exclusion and destruction of women in politics and literary production and the transformation of this oppression into the inaugural possibilities of writing and action Her study is one of the first to combine an in depth engagement with philosophical aesthetics especially the work of Theodor W Adorno with women s literary modernism particularly the writing of Virginia Woolf and Nella Larsen along with feminist theories on the politics of race and gender By bringing seemingly apolitical gender neutral debates about modernism s experimental forms together with an analysis of violence and destroyed materialities Ziarek challenges both the anti aesthetic subordination of modern literature to its political uses and the appreciation of art s emancipatory potential at the expense of feminist and anti racist political struggles

What Makes an Artwork Great? Michael H. Mitias, 2024-06-04 Michael Mitias presents explains and defends in some detail the features that make an artwork great magic universality and the test of time Although some aestheticians beginning with Longinus discussed these features during the past two millennia they did not analyze them comprehensively nor did they justify them from the standpoint of a satisfactory conception of the nature of art In this book the author first explains the nature of the features that make an artifact art and then proceeds to establish the validity of his thesis on firm epistemological and ontological foundations In his endeavor to explicate the nature of this foundation the author answers four questions First what is the genesis of the artwork What makes it art He answers this question by advancing a concept of aesthetic depth The essence of this depth is human meaning Second under what perceptual conditions does this depth come to life in the process of aesthetic perception Third what is the role of the concept of aesthetic depth in the analysis of the nature of the great artwork How does the concept of aesthetic depth function as a principle of explanation Fourth how can we justify the attribution of magic universality and the test of time to the great work of art In short an understanding of the genesis of the artwork aesthetic depth aesthetic value and aesthetic perception is indispensable for an adequate conception of greatness in art

Effectiveness in Political Art Maria-Alina Asavei, 2018-09-15 Should politically concerned and engaged artistic production disregard questions or requirements of aesthetic reception and value Whether art should be aesthetic or political is not a new question Therefore in spite of those several contemporary approaches of this issue the answer is not set in stone and the debate is still going on This volume aims to broaden these debates and it stems from numerous conversations with politically engaged artists and artist collectives on issues related to the aesthetization of politics versus the politicization of art as well as the phenomenon of the so called unhealthy aestheticism in political art Thus this study has three interrelated aims Firstly it aims to offer an interdisciplinary account of the relationship between art and politics and between aesthetics and the political Secondly it attempts to explore what exactly makes artistic production a strong yet neglected field of political critique when democratic political agency history from below and identity politics are threatened Finally to illuminate the relationship between critical political theory on the one hand and the philosophy of art on the other by highlighting artworks moral political and epistemic abilities to reveal criticize problematize and intervene politically in our political reality

Aesthetic evaluation and film Andrew Klevan,2018-08-08 This book provides an in depth holistic examination of evaluative aesthetics and criticism as they apply to film Organised around the explanation of key concepts it illuminates connections between the work of philosophers theorists and critics and demonstrates the evaluation of form through the close analysis of film sequences The book advocates that aesthetic evaluation should be flexibly informed by a cluster of concerns including medium convention prominence pattern and relation and rather than privileging a particular theory or film style it models a type of approach attention process and discourse Suitable for students of film studies and philosophical aesthetics at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels Aesthetic evaluation and film also provides a framework for academics researching or teaching in the area At the same time the crisp and lucid style will make the book accessible to a wider readership Bonaventure's Aesthetics Thomas J. McKenna,2020-12-10 The authors of the standard approach to Bonaventure's aesthetics established the broad themes that continue to inform the current interpretation of his philosophy theology and mysticism of beauty his definition of beauty and its status as a transcendental of being his description of the aesthetic experience and the role of that experience in the soul's ascent into God Nevertheless they also introduced a series of pointed questions that the current literature has not adequately resolved In Bonaventure's Aesthetics The Delight of the Soul in Its Ascent into God Thomas J McKenna provides a comprehensive analysis of Bonaventure's aesthetics the first to appear since Balthasar's Herrlichkeit and argues for a resolution to these questions in the context of his principal aesthetic text the Itinerarium mentis in Deum Beyond Mimesis and Convention Roman Frigg,Matthew Hunter,2010-04-28

Representation is a concern crucial to the sciences and the arts alike Scientists devote substantial time to devising and exploring representations of all kinds From photographs and computer generated images to diagrams charts and graphs from scale models to abstract theories representations are ubiquitous in and central to science Likewise after spending much of the twentieth century in proverbial exile as abstraction and Formalist aesthetics reigned supreme representation has returned with a vengeance to contemporary visual art Representational photography video and ever evolving forms of new media now figure prominently in the globalized art world while this return of the real has re energized problems of representation in the traditional media of painting and sculpture If it ever really left representation in the arts is certainly back Central as they are to science and art these representational concerns have been perceived as different in kind and as

objects of separate intellectual traditions Scientific modeling and theorizing have been topics of heated debate in twentieth century philosophy of science in the analytic tradition while representation of the real and ideal has never moved far from the core humanist concerns of historians of Western art Yet both of these traditions have recently arrived at a similar impasse Thinking about representation has polarized into oppositions between mimesis and convention Advocates of mimesis understand some notion of mimicry or similarity resemblance or imitation as the core of representation something represents something else if and only if the former mimics the latter in some relevant way Such mimetic views stand in stark contrast to conventionalist accounts of representation which see voluntary and arbitrary stipulation as the core of representation Occasional exceptions only serve to prove the rule that mimesis and convention govern current thinking about representation in both analytic philosophy of science and studies of visual art This conjunction can hardly be dismissed as a matter of mere coincidence In fact researchers in philosophy of science and the history of art have increasingly found themselves trespassing into the domain of the other community pilfering ideas and approaches to representation Cognizant of the limitations of the accounts of representation available within the field philosophers of science have begun to look outward toward the rich traditions of thinking about representation in the visual and literary arts Simultaneously scholars in art history and affiliated fields like visual studies have come to see images generated in scientific contexts as not merely interesting illustrations derived from high art but as sophisticated visualization techniques that dynamically challenge our received conceptions of representation and aesthetics Beyond Mimesis and Convention Representation in Art and Science is motivated by the conviction that we students of the sciences and arts are best served by confronting our mutual impasse and by recognizing the shared concerns that have necessitated our covert acts of kleptomania Drawing leading contributors from the philosophy of science the philosophy of literature art history and visual studies our volume takes its brief from our title That is these essays aim to put the evidence of science and of art to work in thinking about representation by offering third or fourth or fifth ways beyond mimesis and convention In so doing our contributors explore a range of topics fictionalism exemplification neuroaesthetics approximate truth that build upon and depart from ongoing conversations in philosophy of science and studies of visual art in ways that will be of interest to both interpretive communities To put these contributions into context the remainder of this introduction aims to survey how our communities have discretely arrived at a place wherein the perhaps surprising collaboration between philosophy of science and art history has become not only salubrious but a matter of necessity

Expression in the Performing Arts Inma Álvarez, Héctor J. Pérez, Francisca Pérez-Carreño, 2010-02-19 The performing arts represent a significant part of the artistic production in our culture Correspondingly the fields of drama film music opera dance and performance studies are expanding However these arts remain an underexplored territory for aesthetics and the philosophy of art Expression in the Performing Arts tries to contribute to this area The volume collects essays written by international scholars who address a variety of themes concerning the core philosophical topic of expression in the theory of the performing arts Specific questions about the ontology of art the nature of the performances the role of the performer and the relations between spectators and works emerge from the study of the performing arts Besides these arts challenge the unchanging physicality of other kinds of works of art usually the direct result of creative individual artist and barely affected by the particular circumstances of their exhibition Expression is one of the issues that adopt a special character in the performing arts Do singers dancers or actors express the feelings a work is expressive of How does the performer contribute to the expressive content of the work How does the spectator emotionally respond to the physical proximity of the performers Is aesthetic distance avoided in the understanding of the performing arts How are the expressive properties of work performance and characters related And how are the subjectivities they embody revealed The contributions presented here are not all in agreement on the right answers to these questions but they offer a critical and exciting discussion of them In addition to original proposals on the theoretical aspect of expression in the performing arts the collection includes analyses of individual artists historical productions and concrete works of art as well as reflections on performative practice

The Art Experience Alex Rajczi, 2024-04-24 The Art Experience An Introduction to Philosophy and the Arts takes readers on an engaging and accessible journey that explores a series of fundamental questions about the nature of art and aesthetic value The book's 12 chapters explore three questions What makes something a work of art How should we experience art to get the most out of it Once we understand art how should we evaluate whether it is good or bad Philosophical theory is illustrated with concrete examples the paintings of Frida Kahlo the music of Johann Sebastian Bach the masks of the Nso people and many others Classic questions are balanced with cutting edge challenges such as Linda Nochlin's work on the exclusion of women from the artistic canon The Art Experience presupposes no prior knowledge of philosophy or art and it will be of interest to any reader seeking an accessible and engaging introduction to this field Along the way readers learn how philosophical theories can affect our real world experiences with painting music theater and many other art forms

Key Features Accessible for any college student assumes no knowledge of philosophy art theory or any artistic medium Organizes topics conceptually rather than historically allowing students to more easily grasp the core issues themselves rather than tracing their historical evolution Offers readers a large number of contemporary examples and a consistent focus on the way theory can affect people's real world experiences with art Explores questions about bias for example whether the artistic canon has excluded some groups unfairly and whether definitions of art are Western biased
