Heaven and Earth in the Gospel of Matthew Jonathan T. Pennington, 2007 A much overlooked aspect of the Gospel of Matthew is the theme of heaven and earth. Rather than being a reverential circumlocution for God, heaven in Matthew is part of a highly developed discourse of heaven and earth language. Matthew's idiolectic way of using heaven language consists of four aspects: 1 a distinction in meaning between singular and plural forms of ouranos; 2 frequent use of the heaven and earth word pair; 3 regular reference to the Father in heaven; and 4 the recurrent use of the Matthean expression kingdom of heaven. This book examines the historical precedents for each of these aspects and shows in Matthew how they serve one overriding theological purpose to highlight the tension that currently exists between heaven and earth or God and humanity while looking forward to its eschatological resolution. Proceedings of the 20th International Congress of Papyrologists, Copenhagen, 23-29 August, 1992 Adam Bülow-Jacobsen, 1994. This volume presents over ninety papers in English, French, German, and Italian from the Congress held at Copenhagen in 1992.

Matthew 1-7 W. D. Davies, Dale C. Allison, Jr., 2004-06-15. For over one hundred years the International Critical Commentary series has held a special place among works on the Bible. It has sought to bring together all the relevant aids to exegesis: linguistic and textual, no less than archaeological, historical, literary, and theological, with a level of comprehension and quality of scholarship unmatched by any other series. No attempt has been made to secure a uniform theological or critical approach to the biblical text; contributors have been invited for their scholarly distinction, not for their adherence to any one school of thought. The first paperback editions to be published cover the heart of the New Testament, providing a wealth of information and research in accessible and attractive format. Criteria for Authenticity in Historical-Jesus Research Stanley E. Porter, 2004-10-19. Historical Jesus research continues to captivate the interests of scholars, and recently there has been renewed discussion of the criteria for authenticity. The first half of this volume reviews the state of play in historical Jesus research and examines the criteria in particular. One chapter is devoted to the so-called Quests, and a second critically charts the development of the criteria in the light of form criticism. One of the conclusions of this part of the volume is that several criteria, especially those based on linguistics, need re-evaluation. The second half of the volume proposes three new criteria based upon use of the Greek language. These criteria are Greek language and its context, textual variance, and discourse features. The criteria are proposed as a way forward in historical Jesus research.
