empires under the Mongols and Manchus Inner Asia and the Spatial Politics of Empire brings a distinctly anthropological treatment to the prehistory of Mongolia and is the first major work to explore key issues in the archaeology of eastern Eurasia using a comparative framework The monograph adds significantly to anthropological theory on interaction between states and outlying regions the emergence of secondary complexity and the growth of imperial traditions Based on this approach the window of Inner Asian prehistory offers a novel opportunity to investigate the varied ways that complex societies grow and the processes articulating adjacent societies in networks of mutual transformation
