construction of a single Sephardi identity This unifying identity is predicated both on Zionist identification with the State of Israel and national feelings for Argentina and that Sephardi Jews assumed leadership roles in national Jewish organizations once they integrated into the much larger Ashkenazi community Rather than assume that Sephardi identity was fixed and unchanging Brodsky highlights the strategic nature of this identity constructed both from within the various Sephardi groups and from the outside and reveals that Jewish identity must be understood as part of the process of becoming Argentine
