Resistance and the Sermon in American Literature Matthew Smalley, 2024-05-30 With seemingly obsessive regularity American authors from the mid nineteenth century to the present evoke the sermon at culturally loaded moments in their works deploying the form to underscore the cultural work they imagine their novels or poetry to perform Examining this longstanding tradition of literary preaching this book draws on literary applications of design theory to provide a nuanced account of American literature's complex anxious and persistent engagement with the Protestant sermon Analyzing literary preaching as a transhistorical form that simultaneously attracts and repels authors Smalley demonstrates how major US writers Ralph Waldo Emerson Walt Whitman Nathaniel Hawthorne Rebecca Harding Davis William Faulkner Zora Neale Hurston and Toni Morrison have subverted the sermon's predominantly religious content in order to reimagine profound moments of reform in a political cultural and aesthetic mode This study elucidates new lines of literary kinship offers fresh readings of familiar works and establishes literary preaching as an undertheorized but significant tradition in American literature

Reed, 2003 The African American Experience Arvarh E. Strickland, Robert E. Weems Jr., 2000-11-30 Compared to the early decades of the 20th century when scholarly writing on African Americans was limited to a few titles on slavery Reconstruction and African American migration the last thirty years have witnessed an explosion of works on the African American experience With the Civil Rights and Black Power movements of the 1960s came an increasing demand for the study and teaching of African American history followed by the publication of increasing numbers of titles on African American life and history This volume provides a comprehensive bibliographical and analytical guide to this growing body of literature as well as an analysis of how the study of African Americans has changed Apocalyptic Sentimentalism Kevin Pelletier, 2015-01-15 In contrast to the prevailing scholarly consensus that understands sentimentality to be grounded on a logic of love and sympathy Apocalyptic Sentimentalism demonstrates that in order for sentimentality to work as an antislavery engine it needed to be linked to its seeming opposite fear especially the fear of God's wrath Most antislavery reformers recognized that calls for love and sympathy or the representation of suffering slaves would not lead an audience to feel right or to actively oppose slavery The threat of God's apocalyptic vengeance and the terror that this threat inspired functioned within the tradition of abolitionist sentimentality as a necessary goad for sympathy and love Fear then was at the center of nineteenth century sentimental strategies for inciting antislavery reform bolstering love when love faltered and operating as a powerful mechanism for establishing interracial sympathy Depictions of God's apocalyptic vengeance constituted the most efficient strategy for antislavery writers to generate a sense of terror in their audience Focusing on a range of important antislavery figures including David Walker Nat Turner Maria Stewart Harriet Beecher Stowe and John Brown Apocalyptic Sentimentalism illustrates how antislavery discourse worked to redefine violence and vengeance as the ultimate expression rather than denial of love and sympathy At the same time these warnings of apocalyptic retribution enabled antislavery writers to express albeit indirectly fantasies of brutal violence against slaveholders What began as a sentimental strategy quickly became an incendiary gesture with antislavery reformers envisioning the complete annihilation of slaveholders and defenders of slavery
