Servants Of The Fish:

Servants of the Fish Myron Arms, 2004 As the last of the northern cod disappeared from the fishing banks of eastern North America during the waning years of the 20th century more than just fish faced the threat of extinction In communities all around the island of Newfoundland thousands of fishermen and their families suddenly found themselves confronted by a similar threat Servants of the Fish is the story of these people who are at once the perpetrators and the victims of this event As he did in his bestselling Riddle of the Ice Arms employs the drama of the voyage to bring readers face to face with the people and the geography of the tale he tells It is the tale of a particular time and place Yet it is also an allegory of sorts about predators and prey about greed and denial and about our collective ability as human beings to destroy natural systems once thought to be infinite Inspection and Grading of Fish and Fishery Products United States. Congress. House. Merchant Marine and Fisheries, 1940 Hearings United States. Congress. House. Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, 1940 Continuation of a Treatise on the Law Respecting Game and Fish Joseph Chitty, 1816 Fish into Wine Peter E. Pope, 2012-12-01 Combining innovative archaeological analysis with historical research Peter E Pope examines the way of life that developed in seventeenth century Newfoundland where settlement was sustained by seasonal migration to North America's oldest industry the cod fishery The unregulated English settlements that grew up around the exchange of fish for wine served the fishery by catering to nascent consumer demand The English Shore became a hub of transatlantic trade linking Newfoundland with the Chesapeake New and old England southern Europe and the Atlantic islands Pope gives special attention to Ferryland the proprietary colony founded by Sir George Calvert Lord Baltimore in 1621 but later taken over by the London merchant Sir David Kirke and his remarkable family The saga of the Kirkes provides a narrative line connecting social and economic developments on the English Shore with metropolitan merchants proprietary rivalries and international competition Employing a rich variety of evidence to place the fisheries in the context of transatlantic commerce Pope makes Newfoundland a fresh point of view for understanding the demographic economic and cultural history of the expanding North Atlantic world Publications of the Scottish History Society, 1907 Consumption and Gender in the Early Seventeenth-Century Household Jane Whittle, Elizabeth Griffiths, 2012-03-01 Lady Alice Le Strange of Hunstanton in Norfolk kept a continuous series of household accounts from 1610 1654 Jane Whittle and Elizabeth Griffiths have used the Le Stranges rich archive to reconstruct the material aspects of family life This involves looking not only at purchases but also at home production and gifts and not only at the luxurious but at the everyday consumption of food and medical care Consumption is viewed not just as a set of objects owned but as a process involving household management acquisition and appropriation a process that created and reinforced social links with craftsmen servants labourers and the local community It is argued that the county gentry provide a missing link in histories of consumption connecting the fashions of London and the royal court with those of middling strata of rural England Recent writing has focused upon the transformation of consumption patterns in the eighteenth century Here the earlier context is illuminated and instead of tradition and stability we find constant change and innovation Issues of gender permeate the study Consumption is often viewed as a female activity and the book looks in detail at who managed the provisioning purchases and work within the household how spending on sons and daughters differed and whether men and women attached different cultural values to household goods This single household s economy provides a window into some of most significant cultural and economic issues of early modern England innovations in trade retail and production the basis of gentry power social relations in the countryside and the gendering of family life Ochertyre House booke of accomps, 1737-1739 William Murray (petitioner),1907
