The Intersection of Poetry and Jungian Analysis Through Metaphor Regina Colonia-Willner, 2024-08-06 The Intersection of Poetry and Jungian Analysis Through Metaphor In Creation You Are Created explores the relationship between Jungian psychoanalytical intervention and poetry focusing on the emergence of metaphor which occurs in both processes as it happens in neuroscience and fairy tales Metaphor is a mode of communication that forms a bridge between different experience domains through associative linkages it refers to a subject by mentioning another for rhetorical effect Indeed the prominence of metaphor in Jungian therapy is a characteristic that differentiates it from other forms of treatment That is because metaphor as we will see in this book is deeply rooted in the body in two ways It is used to organize bodily sensations cognitively and is located on the border between mind and brain C. G. Jung uses a metaphor when he observes in Memories Dreams Reflections As far as we can discern the sole purpose of existence is to kindle a light in the darkness of mere being

Methods, Models, Simulations And Approaches Towards A General Theory Of Change - Proceedings Of The Fifth National Conference Of The Italian Systems Society Gianfranco Minati, Mario Abram, Eliano Pessa, 2012-03-27 The book contains the Proceedings of the 2010 Conference of the Italian Systems Society Papers deal with the interdisciplinary study of processes of changing related to a wide variety of specific disciplinary aspects Classical attempts to deal with them based on generalising approaches used to study the movement of bodies and environmental influence have included ineffective reductionistic simplifications Indeed changing also relates for instance to processes of acquisition and varying properties such as for software growing and aging biological systems learning cognitive systems and socio economic systems growing and developing through innovations Some approaches to modelling such processes are based on considering changes in structure e.g. phase transitions Other approaches are based on considering 1 periodic changes in structure as for processes of self organisation 2 non periodic but coherent changes in structure as for processes of emergence 3 the quantum level of description Papers in the book study the problem considering its transdisciplinary nature i.e. systemic properties studied per se and not within specific disciplinary contexts The aim of these studies is to outline a transdisciplinary theory of change in systemic properties Such a theory should have simultaneous corresponding and eventually hierarchical disciplinary aspects as expected for a general theory of emergence Within this transdisciplinary context specific disciplinary research activities and results are assumed to be mutually represented as within a philosophical and conceptual framework based on the theoretical centrality of the observer and conceptual non separability of context and observer related to logically open systems and Quantum Entanglement Contributions deal with such issues in interdisciplinary ways considering theoretical aspects and applications from Physics Cognitive Science Biology Artificial Intelligence Economics Architecture Philosophy Music and Social Systems

The Rhetoric of Topics and Forms Gianna Zocco, 2021-01-18 The fourth volume of the collected papers of the ICLA congress The Many Languages of Comparative Literature includes articles that study thematic and formal elements of literary texts Although the question of prioritizing either the level of content or that of form has often provoked controversies most contributions here treat them as internally connected While theoretical considerations inform many of the readings the main interest of most articles can be described as rhetorical in the widest sense given that the ancient discipline of rhetoric did not only include the study of rhetorical figures and tropes such as metaphor irony or satire but also that of topoi which were originally viewed as the places where certain arguments could be found but later came to represent the arguments or intellectual themes themselves Another feature shared by most of the articles is the tendency of undeclared thematology which not only reflects the persistence of the charge of positivism but also shows that most scholars prefer to locate themselves within more specific often interdisciplinary fields of literary study In this sense this volume does not only prove the ongoing relevance of traditional fields such as rhetoric and thematology but provides contributions to currently flourishing research areas among them literary multilingualism literature and emotions and ecocriticism

Touch Monkeys Marnie Parsons, 1994-01-01 All too often Nonsense is relegated to the nursery Marnie Parsons argues that rather than being mere child's play nonsense is a major force in poetic language In Touch Monkeys she presents us with an original approach to a much maligned linguistic pursuit Parsons distinguishes between nonsense language and Nonsense the genre Her major chapters work towards a vision of nonsense language as palimpsestic as involving the overlaying of several ways of making meaning on a verbal sense system and the consequent disruption of that system This reading of nonsense is itself an intersection bringing together historical and contemporary criticism of literary Nonsense and a wide range of poetic and literary theories Using Carroll and

Lear as examples of Nonsense Parsons provides a survey of existing Nonsense criticism in English and then extends and elaborates nonsense in theoretical directions set by Gilles Deleuze and Julia Kristeva among others and by the poetics of such writers as Charles Olson Charles Bernstein Ron Silliman Steve McCaffery Louis Zukofsky and Daphne Marlatt Following each chapter is a close reading of work by writers as varied as Rudyard Kipling Colleen Thibodeau Adrienne Rich and Lyn Hejinian These readings provide practical applications of nonsense theory and establish the interdependence of theory and practice Nonsense inhabits and challenges traditional forms simultaneously in Touch Monkeys Parsons enters into the spirit of the genre

Shakespeare and Contemporary Fiction Barbara L. Estrin, 2012 As the first book to use fiction as theory Shakespeare and Contemporary Fiction reads backward to demonstrate how recent novelists redeploy founding and lyric plots to uncover a Shakespeare who similarly challenges the mythological homogeneity that scripts us The Path, 1889

The Aesthetics and Politics of Global Hunger Anastasia Ulanowicz, Manisha Basu, 2018-02-14 This collection investigates modern imperialist practices and their management of hunger through its punctuated distribution amongst asymmetrically related marginal populations Drawing on relevant material from Egypt Ireland India Ukraine and other regions of the globe The Aesthetics and Politics of Global Hunger is a rigorously comparative study made up of ten essays by well established scholars from universities around the world Since modernity we have been inhabitants of a globe increasingly connected through discourses of equal access for all humans to the resources of the planet but the volume emphasizes alongside this reality the flagrant politicization of those same resources From this emphasis the essays in the volume place into relief the idea that ideological and aesthetic discourses of hunger could inform ethical thinking and practices about who or what constitutes the figure of the modern historical human Cartographies of Violence Mona Oikawa, 2012-09-10 In 1942 the federal government expelled more than 22 000 Japanese Canadians from their homes in British Columbia From 1942 to 1949 they were dispossessed sent to incarceration sites and dispersed across Canada Over 4 000 were deported to Japan Cartographies of Violence analyses the effects of these processes for some Japanese Canadian women Using critical race feminist anti colonial and cultural geographic theory Mona Oikawa deconstructs prevalent images stereotypes and language used to describe the Internment in ways that masks its inherent violence Through interviews with women survivors and their daughters Oikawa analyses recurring themes of racism and resistance as well as the struggle to communicate what happened Disturbing and provocative Cartographies of Violence explores women's memories in order to map the effects of forced displacements incarcerations and the separations of family friends and communities Stories, Meaning, and Experience

Yanna B. Popova, 2015-06-26 This is a book about the human propensity to think about and experience the world through stories Why do we have stories How do stories create meaning for us and How is storytelling distinct from other forms of meaning making are some of the questions that this book seeks to answer Although these and other related problems have preoccupied linguists philosophers sociologists narratologists and cognitive scientists for centuries in Stories Meaning and Experience Yanna Popova takes an original interdisciplinary approach situating the study of stories within an enactive understanding of human cognition. Enactive approaches to consciousness and cognition foreground the role of interaction in explanations of social understanding which includes the human practices of telling and reading stories. Such an understanding of narrative makes a decisive break with both text centred approaches that have dominated structuralist and early cognitivist views of narrative meaning as well as pragmatic ones that view narrative understanding as a form of linguistic implicature. The intersubjective experience that each narrative both affords and necessitates the author argues serves to highlight the active yet cooperative and communal nature of human sociality expressed in the numerous forms of human interaction of which storytelling is one.
